Artificial Ice Plant Climbs Past $5,000, Ask Machine By May

Newmarket—Echoing the elevator operator's cry of "Going up, going up," is the good word on the thermometer at the post office showing the progress of the drive for funds to install artificial ice in the Newmarket Memorial Arena. Chairman Fred Thompson, making his weekly report to the executive of the ways and means committee Monday, indicated it is now over the $5,000 mark. The boost is due to some very handsome donations picked up by the canvassers this week. We'll tell you more about these later, and the

Sends Fire Alarm Over All Party Lines

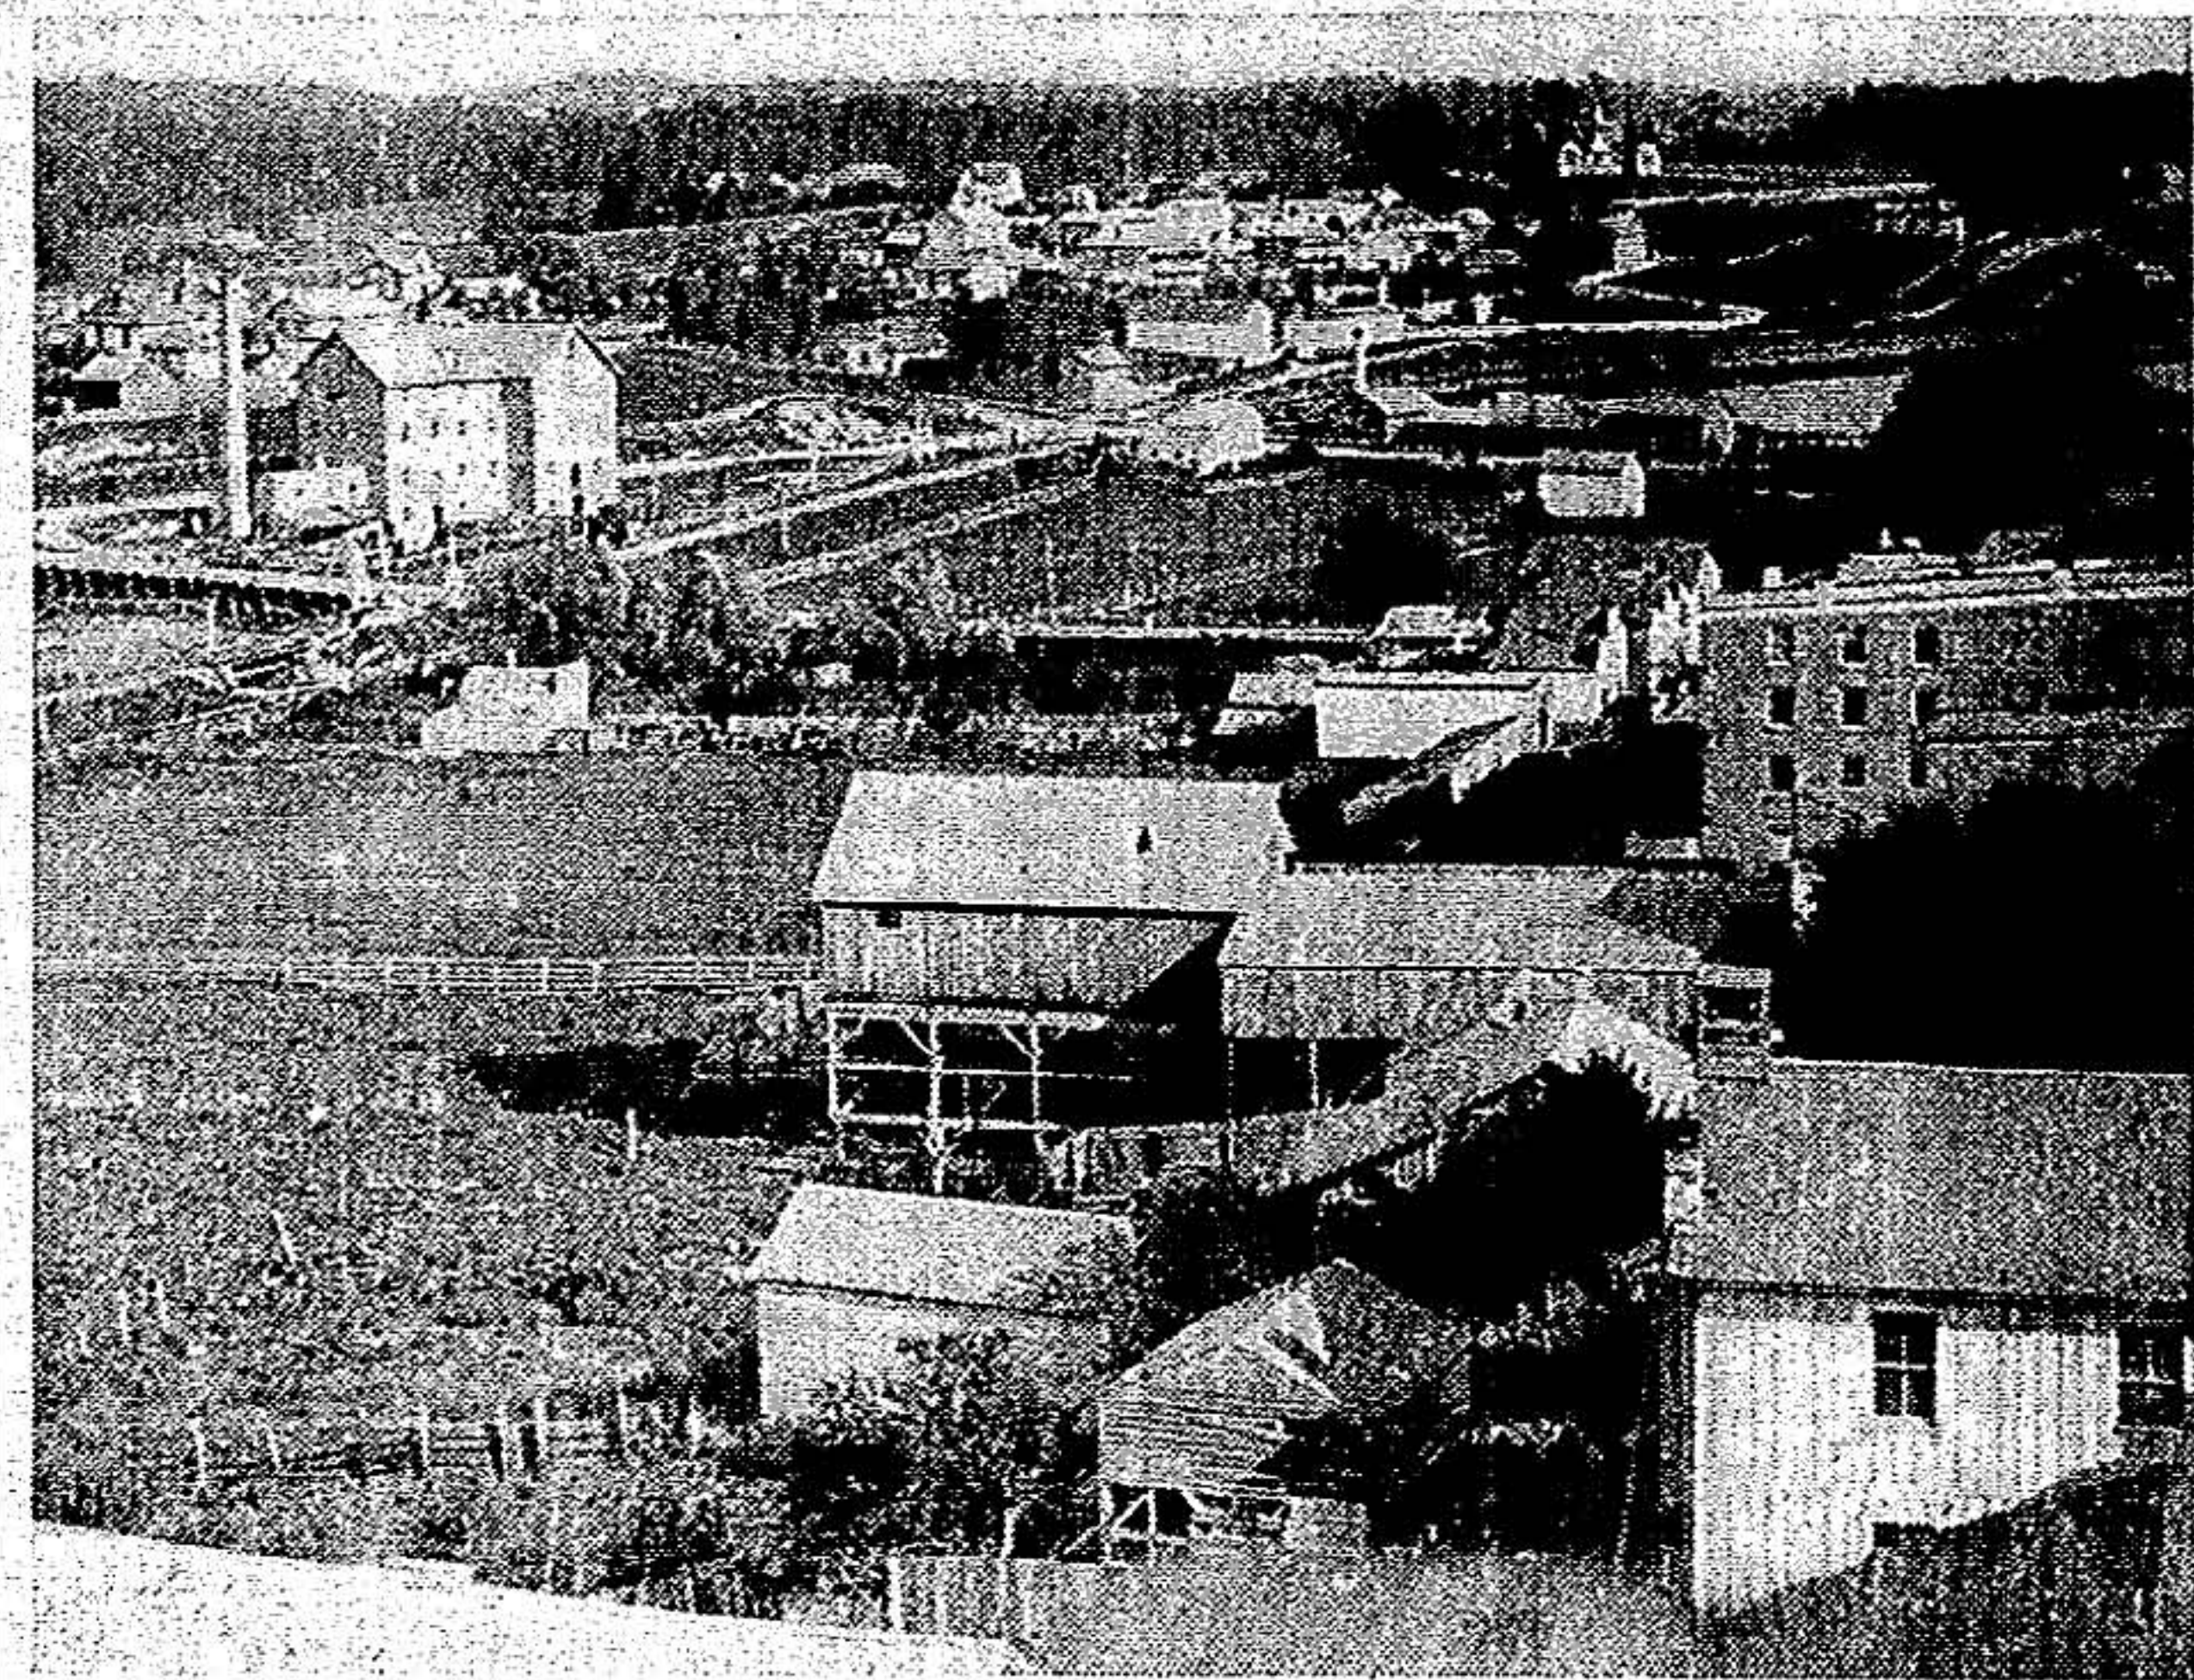

Aurora—By putting in a general alarm call on all party lines in her area, King City telephone operator Mary Smith summoned neighbors to the aid of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley H. Chambers when their home caught fire early Monday morning. The Chambers were aroused by flames around 7 a.m. Mr. Chambers immediately got his wife and three children, Sharon, five, Shirley, seven, and Gail, nine, safely outside and then attempted to battle the flames which threatened his home on the 7th line. Soon neighbors summoned by Miss Smith arrived to aid him. By the time the Aurora and Schomberg fire departments arrived the flames were out. "We just turned around and went home," said Fire Chief Harry Jones of Aurora. "We didn't even get inside the house." The fire started between the floor and ceiling of the second floor. The cause was unknown.

Will Go Ahead On Conservation Despite Government - Aurora

Aurora—Members of the town planning board announced this week that they were determined to continue an all-out effort towards the establishment of the Holland River Conservation Authority despite discouraging press reports that the provincial government is withholding promised grants.

According to press reports late last week the provincial government refused to grant $100,000 for a Humber Valley Conservation Authority project in contradiction to earlier promises of support.

In the Holland River watershed area, wide-awake municipal officials in the communities concerned are alive to the serious nature of the area's future water supply and feel that the necessary steps towards conservation must be taken immediately if the area is to progress.

Despite the serious consequences implied for conservation in this area by the provincial government's announcement, municipal and planning board officials of Aurora feel that the need for conservation measures is urgent and that they should be instituted as soon as possible. At the last meeting of the Aurora council the town planning board proposed that a meeting be called of the councils of Aurora, Newmarket, King and Whitby to consider the establishment of a Holland River Conservation Authority.

Council endorsed this proposal unanimously and requested that it be implemented as soon as possible.

"We most certainly expect to hold the proposed meeting," said Harold Pringle, Aurora councillor and member of the Aurora Town Planning board, "and we hold out high hopes for it." Commented Councillor James Murray, also a member of the planning board, "the need is so vital that regardless of what the provincial government does we must give conservation our deepest thought and consideration. Our future development and welfare hinges on the attitude we take now."

Lower Mill Rate Forecast When Town Budget Set

Child Hit By Car On Yonge St. Sunday

Newmarket—Reduction in the mill rate is expected when the budget is brought before the town council at the next meeting scheduled for Monday night. Last year's rate was a high 45 mills.

Indications pointing to a reduction are: the forecasts of council members when the re-assessment was announced that the mill rate would be lowered and the surplus reported in the recent auditor's report.

The re-assessment increased the municipal assessment by over $700,000 which, on the basis of last year's mill rate, would increase town revenue by a good $30,000. With this cushion, the finance committee can decrease the mill rate while still increasing the tax revenue.

The extent of the reduction of the mill rate will depend pretty well upon what improvements the council is planning for the town out of current revenues this year. There has been some talk by taxpayers of a desire to maintain the same mill rate and using the extra revenue for a much needed renovation of municipal buildings, the construction and repair of sidewalks, road improvements, etc. Against this, of course, is the natural desire to see taxes reduced.

Heavy expenditures can be debentured for, it is pointed out, and Newmarket is in an ideal position for this method of financing with its current debenture debt at a low level.

Confiscate 'Crackers,' Police Warn Action Against Offenders

Newmarket — Police here have confiscated firecrackers from some 15 boys in the last few days when the boys made a nuisance of themselves by throwing the firecrackers into car windows and at passing pedestrians.

"We will take whatever action necessary to end this nuisance," Chief Byron Burbidge warned. He asked merchants to exercise as much discretion as possible in the sale of firecrackers. "Fireworks are potentially dangerous in the hands of careless or mischievous children," he pointed out.

Aurora Backs Plan For Ice Debenture

Aurora — In a public opinion poll conducted by this newspaper on Yonge St. this week a 100 percent endorsement of the proposed installation of artificial ice in the Aurora Memorial Arena was found.

On Friday, April 29, the ratepayers of Aurora go to the polls to decide whether or not they will support council's recent artificial ice proposal. Said one merchant, "artificial ice will be heaven-sent to Aurora and to business." Commented a shopper, "if Aurora is the first in this area to get itself established with artificial ice, they'll be ahead of the game. If they are not in the first position Newmarket will undoubtedly tie up with contracts. Let's get on with it."

Commenting soberly, one businessman remarked, "the whole future of Aurora is at stake to my way of thinking. We stand at the crossroads of progress or stagnation. This vote will symbolize the attitude of Aurora towards its future. I certainly hope the people mark their ballots for progress."

Meanwhile a personal canvass is being made around the town in an effort to acquaint the people with the nature of the project. Reported one man, "out of 16 taxpayers called on I found only one who said no to artificial ice. The project should be carried by an overwhelming majority. I'm personally 100 percent for it."

In addition, the artificial ice proposal has received the full support of the Canadian Legion, the Lions club, and the majority of the merchants. All endorse it fully and are doing everything in their power to make the proposed project an actuality. (See also Page 5).

Endorse Proposal To Install Ice

Aurora—This week the Board of Trade announced its full support of the council's proposed installation of artificial ice in the Aurora Memorial Arena and the remodeling and extension of the arena. President of the Board of Trade, A. E. L. Maughan, stated that this support was given with the understanding and belief that the proposed debenture will be paid for by the operation of the arena. Also announcing their full support of this municipal project which goes to the people on April 29 is the Canadian Legion, Branch 385, and the Aurora Lions club. Both organizations endorse the installation of artificial ice wholeheartedly.

Formal Opening Of Housing Project

Newmarket — The low rental housing sub-division will be formally opened within the next two weeks with a short program and presentation of keys to tenants.

With the announcement of the formal ceremony came the suggestion that the crown company, Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, responsible for the erection and administration of the project, might consider the erection of additional homes. Fifty homes were built for the present sub-division.

Mayor Joseph Vale, members of council, representatives of the Newmarket Veterans' Association and the Newmarket Legion branch, and officials of the crown company will participate in the simple ceremony. Keys will be handed to the mayor by crown officials and the mayor will hand the keys to tenants. Some of the homes will be then opened for public inspection.

Thirty homes will be ready for possession or already occupied by Wednesday, with the remainder completed by the end of May. The homes are for veterans only and applications are being granted according to priority in terms of service, children and need.

The public is invited to attend the ceremony and visit the homes after.

At present, the project is without grass or landscaping but seeding or sodding will make the grounds presentable before the crown company moves out.

Resume Talks On New High School Wing

Newmarket—A project of some years ago, shelved at various times because of material shortages, and the pending formation of a high school area, has been revived by the Newmarket-Sutton district high school board. The construction of a new wing to the high school had reached a point where the former Newmarket high school board was awaiting the provincial approval of plans when the project was shelved pending the formation of the high school board.

The board has now resumed discussions with the provincial department of education on the possibility of constructing the wing.

At present, the project is without grass or landscaping but seeding or sodding will make the grounds presentable before the crown company moves out.

220th Bat. Members Have Reunion

The 14th annual reunion of the 220th Battalion, the second battalion to be raised in York County during the first World War, was held at the Royal York hotel, Toronto, last Saturday.

Attending the reunion from Newmarket were Aubrey Davis, Arthur D. Evans, Roy MacDonald, Laurie Cane and Ernie Sansom, also Colin McKinley, Orilla, formerly of Newmarket, who plans to return here to live.

The 220th Battalion was formed after the 127th, the first battalion to be formed during the war in York County. Over 12 years ago, 249 attended the first reunion which was held and Aubrey Davis, who was quartermaster captain in the battalion, decided to sponsor the reunions annually. Every battalion old boy or his son is invited and the reunions are held as close to April 24 each year, the date the battalion sailed for overseas.

At the hotel, the veterans had dinner and a program of entertainment and a few speeches. Guest speaker was Padre Sydney Lambert who has recently retired after being padre at Christie Street hospital for 30 years.

'Charity Begins' Opens Tonight

Newmarket — Rehearsals for the Newmarket Dramatic Club's final performance of the season, the three-act comedy, "Charity Begins," by Ireland Wood, have been in session for the past two months and are now in the final stages, pending the performances, tonight and Friday, in the newly decorated Newmarket town hall.

"Charity Begins" is proving a hilarious comedy, filled with amusing and special characters, who say the funniest and strangest things.

John Kudelka, playing the part of the old bachelor, doesn't have to open his mouth—he just needs to roll his eyes in wide-eyed wonderment to create a mild panic.

Margaret Smith, as a romantic teen-ager, has difficulty making up her mind between Don Cummings, the wolf in the play, and Bob Wallace, an impetuous teen-ager. The love scenes certainly look realistic—but why not, with all the extra practice they get? And Kitty Cummings (Don's own little wife) does the prompting, too.

Irma McLean certainly assumes her responsibilities, managing everyone and everything—but she does have trouble keeping a straight face in the midst of laugh lines.

Kay Kudelka, the wayward one, is so refreshing with her relaxed natural manner. In absolute contrast to Kay is Evelyn Woods, an eager and vivacious character, who rattles away at record speed.

Dorothy Bowman enjoys being a very rude old lady, whom Ethel Winters, alone, as the unique servant, is able to manage.

"Charity Begins," a French's Royalty play, was recommended as a Newmarket Dramatic Club production by officials of the Ontario Community Programs and was reported an especially popular and sensational three-act comedy by members of the University Alumnae Dramatic Club.

Mrs. Lloyd Kay Elected Belhaven W.I. President

Belhaven—The April meeting of the Institute held at the home of Mrs. Paradine proved profitable to all present. Plans were completed for the family banquet to be held April 19. Keswick United church services on Easter Sunday will be long remembered. It was a grand, sunny morning to celebrate the resurrection. The church was beautifully decorated with a profusion of flowers. Easter lilies, snapdragons and other varieties of beauty.

The sermon by the pastor, Rev. M. R. Brown, He is Risen, and the selections by the choir as well as the organ prelude, Hallelujah Chorus, played on organ and piano by Mrs. Angus Cowieson and Mrs. Harold Pollard, thrilled the congregation who filled the church to capacity and several rows of chairs.

The evening service was well attended. The sermon, The Risen Christ in Our Lives, and the boys' choir, also the mixed chorus and Abide With Me sung by the men's quartet made a lovely service which closed with the organ postlude, Night Song. Mrs. Angus Cowieson was the organist.

Sunday-school next Sunday at 10 a.m. and preaching service at 11.

The future lies at the point of the drill

The names of Canada's new oil fields have been heard from coast to coast . . . Leduc, Woodbend, Redwater.

They are fields discovered in the greatest search for oil in Canada's history. Already they have brought benefits to all Canadians; and in the west where they are turning back the tide of expensive imports the direct savings are counted in millions.

But before the fullest benefits can reach everyone even more oil must be found.

The successes of the past two years have been possible because there were people willing to go on risking millions in the search in spite of repeated disappointments.

Now, after the barren years that went before, these now fields seem large—and they are large! But they are far from enough to make Canada self-sufficient.

Canada is still dependent on foreign countries for more than 80 per cent of her oil and so her own resources must be developed. Exploration must be continued. More and more wells must be drilled so that markets can be expanded.

There is not yet enough oil to justify the big investments that will be needed if all Canadians are to enjoy the fullest benefits of western resources. Pipe lines, for instance, cost a lot to build; but over the years they provide low-cost transportation—so necessary to reach out to wider markets. The Edmonton-Regina line planned by Imperial is but a beginning.

Further discoveries are the only means of breaking through the distance barriers that hem prairie oil with transportation costs. The future lies at the point of the drill.

IMPERIAL OIL LIMITED

If you're interested in facts . . .

While it is now estimated the known oil in Alberta is roughly equal to our needs for the next two years, actually this oil could not be produced efficiently in less than 20 years.

To meet her present oil requirements it has been estimated Canada needs reserves of several billion barrels.

Imperial's 450 mile pipeline from Edmonton to Regina is expected to be in operation by the end of next year. Cost is estimated at between $35 and $40 million. It is a step towards wider markets.

Bringing you oil is a big job—
and a costly one.

PLAN SUMMER CAMP Executive For Blind Review Work

Newmarket—A meeting of the Newmarket and district advisory committee for the blind, with Mrs. J. E. Morris in the chair, was held last week at Trinity United church. Twelve officers and members were present.

The welfare convener, Mrs. C. S. Gilbert, reported that all blind persons in the district had been remembered at Christmas time with gifts of candy, fruit, smokes and other small items such as neckties, socks, gloves, scarves, etc. Since the last meeting, four new cases had been reported, of which three had been investigated, with one still under investigation. Three of these had been furnished with a free eye examination, two were provided with bus fares to Toronto to undergo eye examinations, and one was equipped with free glasses. Nothing could be done towards improving the eye condition of two of these patients, and since they were both practically blind, they were registered with the institute and placed on the list of cases eligible to receive care training and assistance.

H. W. Henry, district field secretary, outlined plans for a summer camp for the blind which will be operated during August. This camp is located at Ancaster, and will accommodate 200 blind persons. The local committee was asked to undertake a survey of the district and report the names of all blind persons who would be interested in attending the camp.

Those present were: Mrs. J. E. Morris, chairman; Mrs. Elman Campbell, secretary; Mrs. C. S. Gilbert, welfare convener; Mrs. P. F. Wineh, Kewick; Mrs. J. E. Aylward, Queensville; Mrs. R. J. Rogers, Sharon; Mrs. M. Southwood, Aurora; Mrs. W. A. McCaffrey, Miss C. Kittner, Mrs. H. W. Garrett, Rev. E. A. Nichol, Sutton West; and H. W. Henry, field secretary.

This won't be about any particular subject—just one of my old-time pot pourri articles with a lot of ingredients. There have been so many things happening lately, things that one wants to recall, for instance, the eclipse of the moon. What a perfect night for an eclipse, fairly warm and so clear!

I had been at the Red Cross meeting all that day and guess what we had for lunch? I'll just tell you and make your mouth water. Cheese and macaroni with tomatoes, celery, bread and butter, lots of hot tea and for dessert, waffles and maple syrup! (Maybe some folks like them better when you call them pancakes).

It was our closing day; we have shipped the finished quota of work to headquarters and we do not meet again until September, unless of course, some unforeseen emergency calls us out. We all chuckle over the "nominal fee" we each pay towards the lunch. Where else could one get such a satisfying meal for 25 cents? We have merry times as well as accomplishing good work.

I planned to be home that evening, after being away all day and as I finished the dishes a neighbor came out to her clothes line across the fence to take in a crocheted bedspread. I had just stepped out to see the moon rise. The neighbor couldn't see it from her garden, so over she came to see from our east verandah. It was like a huge mammoth orange colored balloon! We stood there chatting and watching it rise higher and higher. The air was so clear and mild that it was pleasant to be out-of-doors.

Then after 9 o'clock when I went again to look, this time from the front verandah, the shadow was just starting to creep up on the lower eastern tip of the moon. It was amazing how quickly the shadow grew. As another neighbor and I watched it, we began to feel chilly, so both went to our own homes and I watched through the window after that. About 11 o'clock the whole moon was covered and one tiny star shone out from the blackest sky I had ever seen just below the moon. How very, very black it was, a velvety black so deep and intense and the stars looked so queer. Then the shadow began to recede and there

Temperance Rallies Said Encouraging

(From Sutton Reporter)

At a special session of the executive of the North York Unit of the Ontario Temperance Federation, held at the home of the president, Dr. J. P. Wilson, Richmond Hill, recently, encouraging reports were given of the series of the five sectional rallies on "The Alcohol Problem", which were held during the past winter in Newmarket, Richmond Hill, Stouffville, Aurora and Keswick.

They took the form of a school, progressing from one plan of the subject to another, by means of sound films and a different speaker for each meeting, who is a specialist in each line of the thought developed on the subject. They were: Rev. Albert Johnston, acting general secretary, Ontario Temperance Federation; David Archibald, psychiatric social worker, whose

Aurora Choir Sings Easter Cantata

Aurora—At a special service Good Friday evening, the Aurora United church choir presented F. W. Pearce's Darkness and Dawn, a sacred cantata depicting the Crucifixion, scene and ending with the triumph and glory of the Cross. The service, well attended despite poor weather, witnessed outstanding performances by soloists, Mrs. Lambert Wilson, Miss Lela Boynton, Miss Loraine Fierheller, Rowland J. Moddie, Don Watson and Charles Billbrough. The music was conducted by Illyd Harris. Following the service the W.A. served refreshments.

Sunday evening a special Easter carol service was conducted by the choir featuring carols from many lands.

Jacqueline Chapelle won third prize in vocal solo for the 13-year class. Willow Beach is justly proud of their children as well as all the pupils of Base Line school who took third prize among the single-room schools competing.

was a queer pink-red rim around the moon.

I forgot to say that earlier on, when it was half covered, I distinctly saw two more moons or half circles of moons, above the real moon. I thought I was "seeing things" so I put on my glasses. Still, I saw the three moons so I took off my glasses (reading glasses, they are) and stepped out again thinking the branches of the tree might be in the way. I stepped down to the walk and saw three moons, or portions of moons. I went right out on the boulevard, away from the trees, electric and telephone wires and the three moons persisted! Was I seeing double? Triple, I mean?

Finally I decided I'd better call it a day and get to bed, fully intending to get up and have several more views of it as it emerged from the shadow. "Oh yeah," as the small boy says! The next time I saw that moon, it was shining full on my face through the bedroom window, away down in the western sky. So ended the eclipse for me.

That beautiful eclipse is blamed for the wet Good Friday weather and the snow today (Saturday). Just what Easter Day will be, I can't say in this article nor tell about the freak hail storm and the terrible thunder and lightning at Bel Fontaine in the Caledon Hills, 15 miles north of Brampton. But as for the earthquake on the western coast, they can't blame the eclipse, or can they? Once again Newmarket has mercifully been spared. The churches should be full tomorrow of our citizens returning thanks. I hope they will be!

I haven't begun to say all I wanted to, but I will try and recall the rest later. I spent too much space on the eclipse.

Next Sunday we go on Daylight Saving Time. It will be summer before we know it! Somebody will have to whisper the news in the ear of the rooster, Old Chanticleer, so he won't be fooling himself and staying in bed that extra hour. He'll be good and mad if he can't be the one to wake us up.

THE BANK's the place for my money. I always put part of my pay into my bank account—otherwise it burns a hole in my pocket. I guess I trust the bank more than I trust myself! I figure that's one reason why my savings have been building up the way they have.

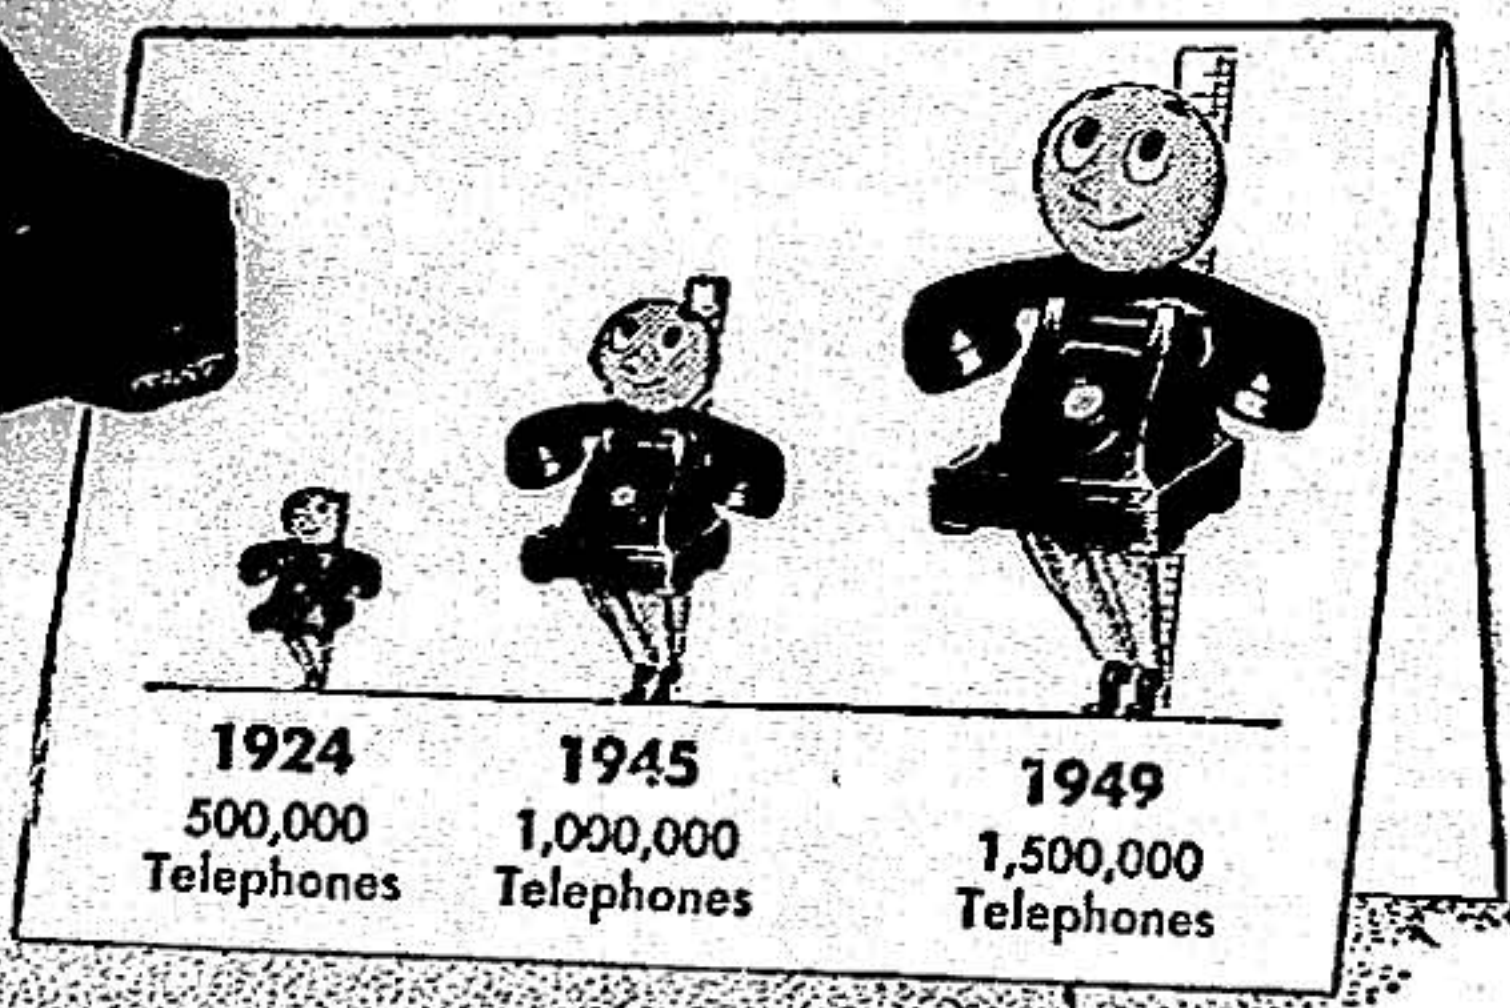

Another reason I'm sold on a bank account is that I always know just where I stand. All I have to do is take a look at my pass-book. They're a lot better bookkeepers than I am.

What's more, what's in my pass-book is my business, and I can count on the bank people to keep their mouths shut about it. And that suits me just fine!

And as we have grown, service has grown better. Your calls go through quickly, clearly. You can always count on your telephone. Yet up to now, despite rising costs on all sides, there has been no increase in the basic telephone rates established 22 years ago. ...for making aluminum!

RAIN! It may sound strange, but it's a fact: Every thing you see made of aluminum was made with raindrops—even the bus for which you scurry to escape the rain!

It's like this: Rain falls on high land in our north country. It runs down as rivulets and creeks. It becomes tumbling rivers. By trapping it behind dams, and guiding it through powerhouses, Alcan develops electricity—and uses it to make aluminum.

Smelting aluminum eats up vast quantities of electricity. Enough goes into making a single ton to light your house for fifteen years!

Today Alcan is prospecting for still more waterpower because Canada needs more aluminum for use at home and to sell abroad.

RAIN MEANS DOLLARS FOR CANADIANS:

- Alcan jobs for 15,000 Canadians
- Alcan pay envelopes holding $35,000,000 a year
- Alcan aluminum for more than 1,000 independent Canadian manufacturers—some 50,000 more jobs.

In the past six months or so, an estimated 1,000 new Canadians have arrived in and around Newmarket. Beginning with the Polish veterans who came here over two years ago as farm help, the flow of New Canadians has continued with private agents as well as the government assisting in swelling the total.

The New Canadians have been generally welcomed although there have been the occasional protests that they were costing native-born Canadians their jobs, or placing a greater strain upon already crowded housing. No doubt the protests have had some justification in the odd local instance but they have little meaning against the picture of what post-war immigration has meant to Canada.

The provincial government, whose air-lift has brought in over 10,000 immigrants from the British Isles, has compiled some interesting figures on the movement of these immigrants and what it has meant in dollars and cents. Here are some of the figures:

Payments to airlines and shipping companies for passages totalled $3.8 million.

Cash assets to be transferred will exceed $13 million. Weekly earnings of these workers would be $19.9 million annually at the average weekly wage of $40 per week.

Purchasing power would be $18.6 million a year after paying $1,293,000 in taxes.

Of this $18.6 million, landlords would collect $2.9 million in rentals; $5.4 million would be spent on food; $1.8 million on household operating costs; $2.2 million on clothing; $1.0 million for recreation and advancement; $511,620 for insurance and savings; $565,000 on doctors' and dentists' fees, leaving a balance of $3.9 million for capital expenditure and investment.

In setting up the new home some 3,750 will, when able, invest $26.5 million and a further $13,125,000 will be spent for furnishings.

Automobile and trucks would be purchased by almost 4,000 representing at least $4 million worth of business.

A working force of 10,000 wage-earners provides employment for:

That these immigrants with means are an economic asset to the province has been realized by many Ontario municipalities. For instance, the Board of Trade in Galt has taken a special interest in this movement with the result that 29 British families have secured employment and established homes in that community.

From the Files of 25 and 50 Years Ago

The formal transfer of York County hospital from a private to a public hospital took place on Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, according to the files of 25 years ago, when Dr. Dales handed over the keys to Mr. W. H. Eves, chairman of the transfer committee. The new matron, Miss Dalmage, was formally inducted and assumed charge of the hospital, having four patients to look after.

Mr. Ross Evans has sold his place near Yonge St. and has moved to town. Arthur, the eldest son, has started farming on the old homestead, "The Pines", which has been in the Evans family for four generations.

Big crowd on the market last Saturday, and prices were inclined to drop. Eggs sold from 20 to 22 cents and butter from 30 to 43 cents a lb. Dressed chickens were 30 cents a lb., maple syrup came down to $2.75, imperial gal.

The public school teachers met at the home of Miss Kathleen Widdifield on Monday evening and gave Miss Vickie Robinson, a bride-to-be, a kitchen shower.

The young people of the Christian church held a play, "A Poor Married Man", in the town hall last Friday night. Those taking prominent parts were Cecil Bond, Constance Roadhouse, Dorothy Penrose and Will Epworth. Between the acts musical numbers were provided by Kathleen Kelley, piano, and Thelma Blair, violin.

Jack Marritt is spending a week at his home in Keswick. He has just finished his third year at Guelph College and leaves for New Liskeard next week. He is to be in charge of the experimental plots at the Provincial Experimental Farm there.

Master Kenneth Davis, son of Alderman Davis, is home from college in Toronto for Easter vacation.

The roof of St. Paul's rectory caught fire from sparks coming from the chimney on Monday night. The fire was extinguished by chemicals before much damage was done.

Work on the Metropolitan extension from Bond Lake to Newmarket will begin Monday according to the files of 50 years ago. One hundred and fifty men are engaged and 50 more are to be employed at $1.25 a day. Mr. Moyes, the manager, expects they will reach Newmarket in three weeks.

Large crowd of people in to market on Saturday, although the roads were very bad. Butter and eggs were the chief commodities. Butter sold from 15 to 17 cents a lb., and eggs went down to ten and 11 cents a doz. Large quantities of potatoes were offered at 75 to 90 cents a bag. Spring lamb was $3 by the carcass.

There has been snow the last four Sunday mornings in succession.

Mrs. L. Lehman has purchased the Robinson property on Church, at the end of Lot St.

Mrs. Mary Brodie left on Monday, after a residence here of 60 years, to reside with her daughter, Mrs. J. P. Hunter, Toronto.

Because of the continued advance in the price of cattle, the local butchers have raised the price of roast beef to 12½ cents a lb.

The first side road south of Zephyr between the third and fourth is flooded by nearly three feet of water.

Mr. Geo. Massey and son of New York were visiting at Post Master Bastedo's last week.

The Editorials:

Tax Cuts With Discretion

The budget should be brought down next week or shortly after. The finance committee has been laboring over it for the past several days. What the result of their calculations will be is a matter of conjecture. The committee, we venture, find themselves on the horns of a dilemma in that the needs of the town require all the revenue which can be levied from the taxpayer, the same taxpayer who before re-assessment was assured there would be no major increase in his taxes.

It is unfortunate that past finance committees have established the precedent of slashing the mill-rate whenever the treasury showed a surplus, with little or no concern for what might be called the "carrying charges" of a municipality—the maintenance and improvement of the physical facilities of the town, and funds for the replacement of worn-out buildings and equipment. This parsimonious policy has left Newmarket with no "cushion" with which to finance the very extensive renovation town facilities require. In recent years, a drastic cut in taxes was followed by a heavy increase the next year with the town no better for it.

As financially welcome as tax cuts may be to the taxpayer, there are few who would accept them willingly in return for another year of municipal shabbiness. Newmarket citizens, in common with other men and women, know that their taxes are the price they pay for municipal advantages like sidewalks along which a baby carriage may be wheeled in comparative comfort, and are in the main prepared to pay it. They have, we feel, little patience with the policy of reducing taxes if it means there will be nothing spent to improve the town.

A Matter of Salesmanship

Canada's revenue from the American tourist in 1948 totalled $270 million. Twenty-five percent of this amount was spent in retail and department stores, 22 percent in restaurants and food stores, 17 percent in hotels, tourist camps and resorts, 12 percent in service stations and garages, nine percent for entertainment and recreation, seven percent for fares, five percent for refreshments and roadside purchases and the remaining three percent for novelties, souvenirs and a miscellany of other items.

Newmarket merchants have a real interest in the first two items on this list, and a casual interest in the others. Some of that $270 million was spent in Newmarket, and a larger share of this year's expenditures will be spent here if Newmarket is prepared to make the prospect more attractive to the spenders. For a start, we suggest that signs be erected indicating the site of the two parking lots off Main St., large signs. Nothing so discourages the would-be shopper than the lack of parking space on Main St. and no alternative to turn to. To follow up, signs at Yonge St. and Eagle, indicating the possibilities to be found in Newmarket for the tourist might divert what would ordinarily be through traffic.

Mr. Kennedy Doesn't Change

When Mr. Kennedy was named by party caucus to the position of premier vacated by Mr. Drew in his acceptance of national party leadership, he said he would act as premier for just one session and until the provincial convention could be held and a new leader chosen. Since then, there must have been many to tell Mr. Kennedy that if he wished, he could probably sweep the convention and retain the leadership. Mr. Kennedy has given no indication that he heard the tempters. In the middle of pre-convention rivalry for the party leadership his determination to abide by the course he first chose is a refreshing note.

He said at the time of his appointment that he would, if the new leader so decided, continue in the cabinet as minister of agriculture. This modesty is characteristic of the man. It is the same modesty which has obscured his distinguished record in the first great war from which he emerged as a brigadier general, and his record as an agriculture administrator which made his department great and has earned the respect of farmers the province over. Premier Kennedy is better known to the farmers as "Tom". His integrity and intelligence have earned their respect. It is fitting he should want to spend the closing years of his long public service in that association.

The state is the servant, not the master, of the people; the state is their guarantee against infringement on their rights, their agent in international and national issues; it is not the function of the state to assume the direction of those activities which rest on individual choice.

Public Health Service

An indication of the work carried out by the Newmarket board of health is the vaccination against small-pox of 65 school children by the medical officer of health, Dr. L. W. Dales, assisted by the public health nurse, Miss Clara E. Kittner, and Mrs. Leslie Barber. In the fall, 134 school children were vaccinated, and at two clinics held in the last six months, all grades of the three public schools and the separate school were given the opportunity to receive this protection.

The protection against and eventual eradication of diseases such as small-pox can only be achieved through the maintenance of such public services as those provided by the board of health.

A Word In Closing

We have cooled somewhat since last Wednesday when an anonymous correspondent sent us marked copies of the Globe and Mail editorial pages with a scrawled note across the top of one of them damming us for a Red because we protested the passage of the Charitable Gifts Act. Apparently our accuser's viewpoint is so narrow that he interpreted our objections to the legislation as a defense of the Toronto Daily Star. We see nothing to defer! about the Star, and had not thought it necessary to say so. The perfidity of the bill, regardless of whom it was directed against, was sufficient to call forth the protests of all honest men intent upon protecting the public against the abuse of legislative power.

Our objection to the bill was not with its principle, but in the manner in which the government used it to cloak political revenge. Another salient objection is with the unsatisfactory manner in which the bill was written. The Financial Post, for example, carried a story of legal loopholes contained in the bill, of legal objections to the manner in which it was worded. The comment of the provincial treasurer, Mr. Frost, the sponsor of the bill, was that there are seven years in which to correct it. That is hardly a satisfactory reflection upon the abilities of the lawmakers of the province.

We feel these points should be recorded not because it is a foregone conclusion that the bill will be a major issue in the next provincial election.

Commuters Trains

The problems related to Toronto's mushroom-like growth are possibly the most serious its administration must deal with. Rapid transit arteries, extensions and like devices to speed its population from home to work and return are an expensive concern. While council grapples with it, the increasing exodus from the city to municipalities like Aurora and Newmarket is showing the way to at least a partial solution.

There are ample opportunities for the development of large-scale housing projects in or near these and other near-by municipalities. There would be no lack of applicants for such homes if the need for transportation, cheap, swift and convenient, could be met. New York, London and Montreal all have commuters trains which give cheap and efficient service between suburban municipalities and the city. Toronto is a hub for north, east and west rail lines but between Newmarket and the city, at least, there is nothing resembling commuters trains.

There are not now sufficient travellers to make commuters trains profitable but there could be if something were done to encourage housing development in outlying areas. Perhaps the railways themselves might find it worthwhile to undertake the development of future markets for commuters trains. There is a limit to what can be done in the city to overcome its handicaps of distance and crowding, and it appears that limit is close at hand. Commuters trains appear inevitable, and to expedite this development might be found worthwhile for all concerned.

Housing Project Opens

The low rental housing sub-division on Eagle St. will be formally opened on Wednesday. How efficient such housing will be remains for time to tell. Of more immediate importance is that the housing shortage in Newmarket has been greatly relieved.

Lack of housing is a condition which not only causes great physical inconvenience and discomfort to its victims, but has been responsible in part for the delinquency, adult and juvenile, which has plagued the post-war years. Crowded living, invasions of personal privacy, inadequate facilities for simple enjoyment have taken their toll of family solidarity. Regardless of what the future holds for the project, it has ended for at least 50 families the housing shortage, and that is sufficient justification.

Office Cat reports Catnips By Ginger

There are hats.
There are women's hats.
And then there are women's hats . . .
Last Sunday, which was Easter Sunday, Isabella, my sugar plum, dragged me off to the city where we walked the board walk. Isabella was to show off her new spring hat. Let us say, rather, we went to the city and took the hat for a walk as did hundreds of other people.
The Easter parade on the board walk is made up of a long line of women and some foolish men, all of whom are interested in being seen. It is peopled vanity en masse and its only result was sore feet as far as I could make out.
The prime interest in the Easter parade, of course, is in hats. We saw beautiful women in hats, women in beautiful hats and women in hats. We also saw fat women in little hats, little women in big hats, fat women in fat hats and little women in wee hats. You may be able to gather that we saw a lot of hats. Oh, there were other things in the parade such as dogs and children, but it was really the hat that had its big day on Easter Sunday.
Surrealist painters have nothing on the hat designer. One woman's hat made me gasp at its sight. It consisted of a straw base on which was set a plate of olives, the works of an old alarm clock, a quill and a large ostrich feather superimposed protectively over the whole.
Curiosity carried me away and I went right up and interviewed the woman under it, right on the spot. "Tell me, madame," I said to the woman who was in her 40's, I think, "What do you attribute that to and why?" pointing to the perched creation.
"Oh, thank you so much," she said, flattered, as she saw me draw out my notebook. "I designed this myself. I call it the 'Spirit of Progress'. Don't you see? The olives represent agriculture and food on our tables, you see, and then you have the wheels of industry and the quill can be the spirit of creative art or writing or something, don't you see? Yes, I think it's nice too. Oh, yes, and the feather is providence."

"Then you women must really take your hats seriously?" I said, asking for more.
"Oh, there is more significance in the trend of hats than you might think," she cried. "I read something somewhere by a French designer that hats reflect the trend in world affairs and life . . . or was it that world affairs are influenced by the design of women's hats? Well, it was one or the other but this man said that hats are very important in our social order."

So, boss, lest you plunge headlong into a discussion on hats, do it in the absence of women and you will be saved.
Still more disconcerting is the news I read in the public prints that out of Paris there has come a woman's hat worth 6,000 smackaroos. One Hedda Hopper, a well known Hollywood professional gossip, a journalist I must admit with whom you and I, boss, must be ranked, I fear, is the owner and wearer.

I am straining desperately, boss, to reach a satisfactory justification for such an intense valuation on one article—to be deposited on the human noggin for decorative purposes only; but it just doesn't make sense. A snatch of straw, a wisp of thread, two sprinkles of diamonds in the hands of a crack pot, Paris designer with a cross-eyed view on things and you have a hat—$6,000 bucks a throw!

An article on food or vitamins for Grandma says that old people do not eat enough of the right kind of food. This is the reason why it becomes hard to get along with some old people. When the diet is proper the older people are pleasant and normal.

We do know that on the farm we have to watch the diet of our stock. We may feed well but our stock do not look good. Stock is thin and the hair stands up on end, while other stock may become crippled. This may be caused by the lack of proper diet.

We hear a lot about health insurance. Just where should health insurance start? Should we wait till we become sick, build more hospitals, have more nurses and doctors? Or should we find out if the food we produce and eat has the proper vitamins? We do know that elderly people who use plenty of milk can fall and not break any bones. Doctors tell us that old people's bones give away and let them down. Plants and crops will respond to proper fertilizer. Stock will become normal when we supply the right diet.

The whole subject of health starts on the land. When we have more research and education on health, our land will play an important part.

No one likes dictatorship, having to do something that we don't want to do. With all the education in farm papers on how to hold the top soil, we still have very few farmers who have changed their way of farming. Where should we start? Build dams on our rivers, or start on our farms? A conservation committee would have to have power to tell a farmer what land to leave in sod. When the hill has to be ploughed, it would have to be seeded in fall wheat or rye, and drilled around the slope. It would seem that the farmer should do these things. "Grass Land or Wealth Under the Hoof" is a book every farmer should study. It is said that 50 percent of the wealth of agriculture is from grass. It is only a matter of time until we farmers will be told how to conserve our top soil, and be made to do so.

As a start our municipal council could put in force the act on cutting timber. We are told such an act gives the council the right to regulate the cutting of timber in the township. This would stir up the rural community.

We think that our township council could do more than just pass accounts. The press reports very seldom give more than the accounts passed. The members of our council could give an individual report to the press. We would like to know just what are the duties of a councillor. The clerk and the assessor make out the tax slips. The county engineer says how the roads are to be fixed. The superintendent carries out the engineer's orders. The suggestion comes that the time for the council to make the inspection of the roads would be in the spring when the roads are bad. They could see where the water lies in the ditches with no way to run off. Some places the ditches are level with the road, the water running on to the road not off. The ridge on the side of the road holds the water on the road. With all respect to our county engineer, our road superintendent and councilmen, the man living along the road could, if asked, give some good advice. Cheerio.

Vote 'Yes' For Ice

By T. A. M. (AB) HULSE

On Friday, April 29, Aurora voters will have a chance to decide whether or not the municipality keeps pace with the more progressive cities and towns in Ontario by approving the by-law for artificial ice and arena expansion, or letting the rest of the province know that the slogan "Healthy, happy homes" used as an advertisement for the town is something the majority give lip service to only.

Here are the towns which already have artificial ice plants: Barrie, Bracebridge, Copper Cliff, Collingwood, Fort Erie, Georgetown, Grimsby, Hespeler, Midland, Milton, New Liskeard, Simcoe, Tillsonburg, Port Colborne. Listed for immediate action in the same field are Bowmanville, Brampton, Dundas, Weston, Goderich, Newmarket and Stouffville. Many more are expected to make known their plans shortly. As has been the case down through the years the so-called luxury of one day becomes the necessity of the next.

A Gallup poll of Aurora would show that the majority of the persons living within the boundaries would vote "Yes" if they could do so. For instance, teen-agers, who are disqualified by reason of age and non-assessment, would vote unanimously for the plan. Most tenants will not have a vote, but we have no doubt about their wishes. Those who are listed as boarders or roomers, and even those who pay poll tax, will not cast a ballot, and their votes would be cast for the by-law. A negative vote will not be the real voice of the majority of the people who make up our community if (and perish the thought), the final returns show the "no's" have won the battle of ballots.

Aurora Lions club and Aurora Canadian Legion have both come out in favor of artificial ice by unanimous votes at their meetings. We hope before polling day, many more organizations will have the courage to speak out boldly one way or the other. Those who have no vote to cast, should make sure that those who will vote know their feelings, and if in favor of artificial ice that the apathy that keeps so many from fulfilling their rightful role as citizens does not prevail on April 29. If the youngsters in Aurora will really go to work for the project in their homes, with their relatives, in public and on election day, we have no doubt what the outcome will be. Youth has a big stake in the outcome and should make its voice heard.

It is the so-called "silent vote" that is to be feared, and lackadaisical action on the part of those who intend to vote "Yes," doesn't help a bit. Those who intend to support the by-law should come out in the open and make their plans known. A frank discussion with those either opposed or with no convictions in the matter will in most cases make a convert so heavy are the arguments in favor of artificial ice. Aux Armes Citoyens!

Foote-Notes

BY WILLIAM FOOTE
AURORA EDITOR

Have two items that we'd like to bring to your attention first off. During the last two weeks of April the Victorian Order of Nurses is making an annual appeal in Aurora for funds with which to carry on its work. We are all aware of the vast effort the V.O.N. expends towards the welfare of the community. This year it is hoping to attain not only an objective of $1,000, but the price of a car as well. The car would greatly facilitate the work of V.O.N. nurse, Miss Claire Hicks, who is at present dependent upon taxi and a stout pair of shoes. When the V.O.N. canvasser reaches your home, give unstintingly of your wholehearted support. No finer cause can be found.

missed serious injury after a lighted firecracker was dropped down the back of her dress by an irresponsible youngster, "all in fun."

A week from Friday the taxpayers of Aurora will go to the polls to vote on the question of installing artificial ice in the Aurora Memorial Arena with the attendant necessity of enlarging the arena. Financially, and from the viewpoint of good business, it would appear that the proposed project is a sound move.

The arena as it stands, is in service from two to three months of each year and, being subject to the vagaries of nature, may not be counted on to consistently provide Aurora with ice during that period. Thus it is tantamount to a white elephant. From nine to ten months of each year the arena stands idle. Not only the large building itself, but the valuable Yonge St. frontage which it monopolizes reposes in slothful hibernation. This state of affairs is not good business. Judged by its present arena, Aurora tends to appear as a lackadaisical, tight-fisted community when compared with the ever-increasing number of progressive communities around it.

Does the glare of nickels blind us to the tangible vision of dollars? Three members of our community are most certainly not thus afflicted. These men, as members of a committee which inquired into the question of artificial ice installation in Aurora, spent long hours in gleaming facts and figures and in considering the problem from all angles.

After extensive research they submitted a brief to council advocating the proposal which goes before the ratepayers April 29. They found that the arena could be self-supporting. The installation of artificial ice in the arena, and the proposed structural changes and additions to the building need not cost the Aurora taxpayer one red cent. Rather, the completed project would carry the debenture necessary to finance its construction, would pay its yearly expenses and would quite possibly show a profit.

If, in the light of the foregoing we consider that the arena, as reconstructed, could be used year-round, we must realize that it would present a much more favorable business proposition than it does at present. If, in addition, we keep in mind the social and recreational welfare of our youth and community there can be only one answer on April 29. "Yes!"

Best Bet For Election Date
Still June 27 or July 4 - Writer

By KENNETH R. WILSON

(From The Financial Post)

Ottawa—The odds quoted hereabouts, are now about 100 to 1 that there will be an election in late June or early July.

Three reasons are cited: 1. Quebec; 2. The budget; 3. Newfoundland.

Quebec: Here's a reason that until recently was cited as important evidence that the election would be in the autumn. Now it's turned in the opposite direction.

It was argued after Nicolet-Yamaska that the Liberals wouldn't dare risk an early federal test. Something had gone wrong and time would be needed to correct the trouble.

But in the last few weeks a new and highly optimistic note has been heard. "Something tremendous has happened," it is said. "Just what we don't quite know, except that it's good news for the Liberal party; bad news for Mr. Drew."

Call it a hunch. Call it crystal gazing or just plain wishful thinking. Any rate, the Liberals seem to believe it, which means that a last big argument for an autumn postponement is out the window.

The Budget: When Mr. Abbott "shot the works" on Tuesday, March 22, this was taken as prime if not conclusive evidence that there would be an early appeal to the electorate.

Here was the capstone to government "beneficence". The culmination of Liberal planning and fiscal frugality. Here was a direct and complete answer to the cold hostility of political followers following the vinegar budget of 1948.

And obviously the effects of this good news and widespread tax slashing wouldn't last forever. Come May and June, when taxpayers were basking in the warm delights of 32 percent or 100 percent tax slashes, they might well remember the government which had made this possible.

But come the autumn, their memories would have shortened; they'd doubtless be used to the 1949 levels by that time; might even be looking for something more. (Also by that time crops might have been poor and business receding—both of which circumstances would tarnish the budget's present lustre).

Thus the argument; let's hold the election as quickly as possible before the effect of tax reductions wears off. Or put in reverse: let's have a June election and put everything we can in an early budget aimed to win votes and influence people to the Liberal cause. Which is cause and which is effect is your own guess.

Newfoundland: Wiseacres have long been saying that what the government did about Newfoundland would be the tip-off about the election.

If the government took steps to prepare for by-elections, then no appeal to the Canadian electorate was in the offing.

But if nothing was done except get ready for a provincial election, then it was an early federal election—for sure.

Pretty clearly the government is taking no steps whatever to hold by-elections in the seven new Newfoundland seats. Hence another important item of evidence on the side of an early appeal.

(There had been some talk of holding the provincial elections in Newfoundland the same day as the federal election, or the federal by-elections. But now it's found that the Newfoundland local rules are quite different: polls open until 9 o'clock, etc., so this idea seems to have gone by the boards.)

Human Nature: Here's a final and equally conclusive argument that shouldn't be overlooked.

MP's themselves prefer to get the election out of the way and have the summer either to loaf or look for another job. Polled individually, they nearly all come down in favor of an early test; will probably so report when asked for their own personal preferences.

But right now this argument is strongly reinforced by the man-in-the-street and the little man on the back concessions.

What's expected to happen on April 25 when parliamentarians reassemble is overwhelming electoral preference to "get the election over with". Thus the first Liberal caucus after recess is about all that may be needed to make the news official.

When will the "early" election be held, and how long can parliament continue to sit?

These are important matters in light of the heavy dossier of work still to be done and the well-established custom and practice that puts June as the preferred month and July 11 as the outside date for a summer contest.

The first fact is that the law requires 49 days between issuance of writs and the date of the election.

For a June 27 election, that means the writs must be out and parliament has been dissolved by May 9. And that means that parliament would have exactly two weeks in which to complete whatever business is considered by the government urgent and necessary.

If the election were scheduled for July 4, there would be three weeks for parliament when it returns. If July 11, there would be four weeks.

Usually a government allows 60 days between dissolution and election date. This is to give the chief electoral officer a chance to get his material printed and ready for the 49-day gestation period.

There's some talk of Mr. St. Laurent announcing the date of the election 60 days in advance and then keeping parliament in session until the 49-day deadline.

That would give Mr. Castongue plenty of time to meet his 49-day deadline and also give parliament a little more time.

So far as can be determined, there is nothing in the rule-book to prevent this being done.

But no one here seems to think it will be done.

All that would happen, it is argued, is that the pages of Hansard would be filled with election speeches (as if many of them aren't already) and every occasion taken to extol or castigate the government with little attention to the serious business of the country.

Perhaps this device may be resorted to as a last minute expedient if the government is really hard-pressed to get through urgent legislation. But it will be an urgent situation which would call for such tactics, according to the view prevalent here now.

The two best dates are still June 27 or July 4.

23,000 Marsh Acres
As Yet Untouched

In the Holland Marsh there is a vast potential of 23,000 acres of rich marsh land yet untouched except for about 500 acres north east of No. 11 highway near Bradford. Thousands of acres of cleared and cultivated land stretch west of the highway and all but about 500 acres of that area has been cleared during the 20 years of progressive growth in the district.

Only a few "pioneers" have gone over to the unsettled sector to clear about 300 acres. If the marsh continues to grow, there is almost an unlimited stretch of marsh land that can be developed in the future.

The drainage and flood control of the present cultivated tract which produces millions of dollars worth of market garden products was perfected by a simple project two decades ago. The original river bed running through the centre of the large flat valley toward Lake Simcoe was dammed at the south-western extremity and the water was diverted by two canals which circle around the outside borders on each side of the valley and join again at the north-eastern extremity flowing back into the river. The original river bed in the cultivated area takes care of all drainage off the fields and its water level is held down by two pumps at the north-east end, near the bridge on the highway.

Eighteen years ago, after the project was completed, two pumps with a capacity of 25,000 gallons per minute were installed. A few weeks ago two new pumps were installed, each with a capacity of 45,000 gallons per minute.

A Marsh Commission which is concerned with the drainage of the Holland Marsh is appointed according to the provisions of the Drainage Act. The commission is made up of George Horlings, Peter Verkaik, Charlie Davis and two township Reeves. This year, Reeve Goodfellow and Vic Turner, Turner was reeve of West Gwillimbury twp. last year but was appointed again to carry on the duties of commissioner again this year.

During a threatened flood last year, 600 marsh farmers banded together and worked two days and a night to hold back rising waters in the diked canals. Because of large amounts of ice in the canals, water rose to the top of the dikes in places and the men had to pile them up with hundreds of sand bags. The flood waters were within an inch of flooding the entire valley but typical Holland Marsh co-operation and effort saved the rich lands from being inundated.

The best land in the old section has been cleared. Only about 500 acres of second quality acreage is left and speculation is turned to the uncleared 23,000 acres to the north east.

Former Friends Pastor,
Burton Hill, Here Easter

Newmarket — The service last Sunday morning at the Friends Meeting was appropriate of the Easter Day and its message. A good attendance of Friends greeted Burton Hill, a former pastor, and Mrs. Hill and children and who are now resident in Galt. Burton Hill spoke earnestly, tracing from the sorrow at the foot of the cross to the amazement of the women when they found the tomb to be empty, and the crowning joy when the disciples realized it was really a risen Christ who appeared to them.

Donald Galbraith, Aurora, contributed two well chosen solos, a 16th century Easter hymn, Alleluia, and The Stranger of Galilee.

Following the service lunch was served in the school room where friends had an opportunity to enjoy a social hour with the Hills. Next Sunday the service as usual will be in the charge of Mr. Douglas Ropp and it is hoped that all Friends who can will attend the meeting.

IT'S A Woman's World

BY CAROLINE E. ION

Easter Sunday—the great day of the Christian faith wherein the triumph of the resurrected Christ is celebrated—found Newmarket churches filled to capacity. Worshippers joined in the joyous Easter hymns. Choirs sang special anthems and flowers in profusion decorated the churches. Perhaps now would be an excellent time for Canadians to answer Hugh MacLennan's question which he asked in March 15th MacLennan's—"Are we a Godless people?"

Easter holidays and what do they mean to you? Welcome relaxation after the grind of examinations; a busy sewing session because you have the children home to "fit"; hectic trips to Toronto to attend the O.E.A. convention; sore muscles because of that over enthusiastic spurge of gardening; or is it a combination of all these things plus the welcome opportunity of family fun done together. Your own family traditions make strong links between you and those younger members when the time comes for them to leave the warm family circle. Give them something to remember, laugh over and cherish.

Old man weather is a mighty important personage. He sends cold winds and rain and no one even thinks of shopping for the traditional new Easter finery. He sends a few "sample" spring days with the promise in the air of balmy afternoons and you have a rush on Main St. merchants. That is what happened in town last week. "Best in years," is the report shop keepers make when referring to the pre-Easter sales. Florists feel that Newmarket is very flower conscious and the figures quoted for the number of daffodils and carnations purchased were amazing. The white lily still holds the regal crown of first choice. Its heavy fragrance, pure beauty and association with this season make it an easy favorite of the majority.

Ladies' blue shoes are in great demand, particularly in the two-strap style, reported the shoe stores. Thursday here as well as in the dress and children's wear shops was the busiest on record.

Mildly close navy for her spring suit or top coat in Newmarket—true to the fashion experts' predictions. Close second went to grey or green. In fact navy was frequently spiked with touches of green instead of the traditional white. Pale, bluish pink and neutral straws were the most frequent requests in the millinery shops. Gay hats, bright with huge groupings of flowers, veiling or enormous plumes were to be seen everywhere on Easter Sunday—that one sunny day sandwiched between two cold, raw ones.

Just a mention of the March of Books campaign which is currently being conducted across the dominion. These books will go to replenish war ravished libraries in Europe. Text books, general non-fiction, history, travel and such are needed badly. Check over those piles of old books in the attic and send them to Budd's Studio where they are being collected locally. A call to the Boy Scouts will bring one of their company to your house to call for any books.

—Miss Carol Price, Dunnville, and Master Richard Coles, Wilfordale, are spending the Easter holidays with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harper Price.

—Mr. and Mrs. Jack Osmond and daughter, Carol, Toronto, spent the Easter holidays with Mr. and Mrs. Elgin Perrin.

—Mr. and Mrs. Norman Dorland and family of Ingersoll spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brammer.

SHIRLEY CREED WEDS R. J. TRINDER

St. Andrew's Presbyterian church decorated with hydrangea and Easter lilies was the scene of the marriage of Shirley Vivian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Creed, Newmarket, to Mr. Robert James Trinder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Trinder, Windsor, on April 18. Rev. R. G. Babcock performed the ceremony. Miss Mary Lou Little was organist and the soloist was Miss Gwen MacKay.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gown in fluorescent satin, with sweet heart neckline, matching head-dress and long veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of baby calla lilies. Maid of honor, Ethel Gibson, Toronto, chose pale green taffeta and carried pink roses. Bridesmaids were Glenna Creed, sister of the bride, in yellow taffeta, carrying red-tipped yellow roses, and Elsie Gibbons in orchid taffeta, carrying yellow roses. Flower girl Carol Creed, sister of the bride, wore rose taffeta with matching muffs and carried sweetpeas. Mr. Laurence Burton, Windsor, was best man, and the ushers were Messrs. Gordon Tubb and Fred Perlman.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Andrew St., where the bride's mother received in blue printed crepe with navy accessories, assisted by the groom's mother in pink crepe and navy accessories. For travelling to western points the bride chose a loganberry wine suit with grey accessories. They will reside in Toronto. Guests were present from Windsor, Hamilton and Toronto.

SCHOMBERG PAIR WED BY CANDLELIGHT

Pottageville United church, decorated with Easter lilies and snapdragons, was the setting for a candlelight service April 16, when Rev. C. E. Cragg united in marriage Colleen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gould, Schomberg, and Mr. Donald McCutcheon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McCutcheon, Schomberg. Miss M. Campbell, King, aunt of the bride, played the wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a suit of beige English gabardine, her coffee-colored hat trimmed with French veiling and pink roses. Her flowers were pink roses, orchids and lily-of-the-valley. Attending her was Miss Thelma McCutcheon, sister of the groom, in a powder blue gabardine suit, natural hat and blue accessories. She carried Tuscan roses. Mr. Keith McCutcheon was groomsmen for his brother and the ushers were Mr. John Ham-bly, King, and Mr. Joseph Dobbes, Owen Sound.

After a reception in the church hall, the couple left for Ottawa. On their return they will live on the groom's farm at Schomberg.

ELIZABETH MITCHELL WEDS DON CAESAR

A quiet wedding was solemnized on Saturday, April 16, in the parsonage of the United church when Elizabeth June Mitchell and Donald Caesar were married by Rev. H. Cotton. The bride wore a street-length blue taffeta dress and carried a bouquet of spring flowers. Her attendant, Mrs. E. Mitchell, was also in blue with a corsage of sweetpeas. The bride was given in marriage by her father, Mr. W. Mitchell, and Mr. E. Mitchell was groomsmen.

The reception was held at the home of the bride prior to the couple leaving on a wedding trip to New York. The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Mitchell of Newmarket and the groom is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Caesar of Bradford. The couple will reside in Bradford.

To Demonstrate Crafts At H.-S. Meeting

Newmarket—Handicrafts, many and varied, will hold the spotlight on Tuesday, April 26, when Mrs. Kate Mather addresses the Home and School meeting. Held in the Stuart Scott school, this arts and crafts program will begin promptly at 8 p.m. Mrs. Mather worked for about 26 years at the Provincial Psychopathic hospital, Winnipeg, where she did occupational therapy. Interested in a great many types of crafts, as was evidenced by her fine display at the recent hobby show, Mrs. Mather is particularly fond of block printing, on both the textiles and on paper. Next in her list of preferences come batik and stenciling.

While in Victoria, where she resided until about two months ago, Mrs. Mather worked on British Columbia Indian designs. Good original Canadian designs are Mrs. Mather's fundamental interest and as soon as possible she plans to begin work on some designs of significance in Ontario. Handcraft classes also figure in the plans of this talented new-comer to our community.

On Tuesday evening Mrs. Mather will have on display, her spinning wheel and wool carders; dirty, washed, unspun and

She told of the great number of countries with which she had been in contact.

Following the business session an Easter bonnet contest caused much amusement. The hats made of items originating in the kitchens defied description. Each designer had to model her "creation". Lunch was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Ivan Winkworth. Mrs. Norman Darrach and Mrs. Delbert Godson.

Young Hopefuls

By DOROTHY MUIR BOWMAN

Calvin, nine years old, has solicited his father's assistance in protecting the young boys of the community from unfair attacks by "bullies." It seems, that in Calvin's neighborhood there is a big boys' gang, known as "The Bullies." This gang of roughnecks has been picking on young boys and engaging them in some very unfair and one-sided fights. The fights were of the fist and foot variety and the young boys, not only lacked the strength to combat, but they didn't know how to use what they had.

Calvin sensed the unfairness of the situation and appealed to his father for instruction in a few trick punches. Calvin's father didn't take the matter too seriously until Calvin produced some of the results of an assault from "The Bullies." The results were in the nature of torn clothes, black eyes, cuts and bruises and a broken tooth.

It was then that Calvin's father began what is now a favorite and healthful pastime for the young boys of the community. Every week he gives them instructions in punching, boxing and wrestling—and, incidentally, confesses that he enjoys the sessions as much as the boys. The boys spend most of their spare time practising what they learn and are especially strict concerning anything verging on unfair tactics. They hold friendly matches of their own and draw quite a crowd of interested spectators.

The younger boys have gained so much in strength and technique that "The Bullies" no longer attack them unfairly.

The Women's Auxiliary is having its final Dorcas meeting of the season today and next Thursday, April 28, they will pack the bales with the completed outfit for the Indian girl and end the season's work with a pot luck supper.

The Common Round...

By Isabel Inglis Colville

EASTER AND A SHOWER

On Sunday, April 17, there was felt all over the world the powerful impact of a glorious fact — the resurrection of our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ.

If we look at the universe where every move of every planet is so beautifully ordered that each keeps to its appointed sphere and confusion is an unknown quantity, we, who believe that God is its Maker know that He planned the resurrection for the spring, when every seed and bulb, every tree and the grass of the field, feel new life springing within them. Nature, whose placid lakes give us a faint foretaste of the "still waters," and "crystal sea," and whose fields remind us of the "green pastures" awakes to share in her Redeemer's triumph.

In churches, wherever there is a church "Christ is Risen!" peals forth—a challenge to the powers of darkness to do their worst, for against them is the bulwark of the promise "Lo, I am with you always even unto the ends of the earth." Rev. Henry Cotton reminded us that although the Hope of Immortality has lain deep in the human heart all through the centuries, yet only Christ among all religious teachers was able to say "In my Father's house are many mansions; I go to prepare a place for you, that where I am there will ye be also." No wishful thinking, but a simple declaration of a wonderful fact.

If there had been no resurrection, said Mr. Cotton, there would be no Christian faith. A dead Christ could not found a living church. Without the resurrection the eleven disciples would have been only eleven badly frightened, sorely disappointed men; with the resurrection, they were a band of fearless preachers, against whom principalities and powers, were powerless. Today, as never before, we need the certainty of immortality.

An April Shower

We all, as children, learned the old couplet, "April showers bring May flowers."

Well, on Saturday evening, a refreshing shower fell on the home of Mrs. Gordon McClure and rained down—not flowers, but gifts—on Mr. and Mrs. Orley McClure. Relatives and neighbors flocked to the scene and when the bride and groom who had been supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Toole, arrived, they received a warm welcome. Orley and Lillian were given seats of honor and after a reading by Mrs. Colville and a contest conducted by Mrs. E. Toole, the gifts were brought in by Eria Toole and Carrie Bruni. They were many, varied and lovely. When the ceremony was finished Orley thanked the givers in a very heartfelt little speech. Then Mr. Earl Toole, Mr. James Hope, Mr. Frank Williams and Mr. A. M. Colville spoke a few words of good wishes for a happy and prosperous future for the young couple, also of appreciation for Orley's war work and his good neighborliness.

Lunch was then served and a happy evening came to an end.

Planting On Marsh 2 Weeks Ahead Develop New Markets In States

With spring planting two weeks ahead of last year, Holland Marsh vegetable growers finished most of their onion planting last week. A lot of lettuce and spinach has also been planted and celery has been transplanted from hot houses to cold frames. Putting celery into cold frames is a transition planting before it is placed in the fields, providing slightly warmer conditions than the natural environment.

The land is in good shape early this year; usually planting begins around the first of May. Flood dangers were absent this spring against last year's threatening rise in the canals surrounding the marsh land when several thousand acres were saved from flooding by hundreds of sandbags piled on the dikes.

Vegetable imports from the United States usually have a marked effect on the market for vegetable growers in the Holland Marsh. When Canada embarked on its dollar saving policy, import bans were put on certain foods from the United States, bringing quick prosperity to the market gardeners in the marsh. This spring, the only remaining items on the ban are carrots and onions and they are expected to be taken off at any time.

On the other hand, a profitable market has recently been developed in the United States for lettuce and celery. Ice packed lettuce was shipped last year to cities far down in the United States and also many carloads to Calgary and Halifax. The only method of its kind in Canada for ice packing market garden products is boasted by the Holland River Gardens plant. Six to seven tons of packing ice are blown in between the lettuce that is to be shipped by rail and the produce is kept safely for long distances.

Although there are several storage plans located outside of Bradford, there is talk of plans for increasing capacities and erecting new buildings. The marsh district as a whole has been noted for its progressive growth in recent years.

This year brought a heavy surplus of onions in the district which have not yet been sold. Vic Turner of the Holland River Gardens estimated that 20,000 bushels of onions stored around the marsh area will probably be dumped. Some attribute the large surplus to growers who hold back their produce for higher prices and wait too long. Last month was believed to have offered a good price for onions but many growers still held out. All Holland Marsh products cannot be sold locally and outside markets must be reached. The cost, however, of packing and shipping, recently, has been high. Freight rates are high for shipping to various parts of Canada and the United States. Added to that, certain vegetables still have ceiling prices in Canada. Many marsh products go as far away as the east and west coasts and the prairie provinces. It costs 99 cents, for example, to ship a bushel of carrots to Vancouver. On top of that is an average 10 percent loss on grading and packing and the necessary type hamper with lid costs 27 cents. The ceiling price on carrots is still $3.50 per bushel.

Mixed Fertilizers Don't Harm Soil

Most farmers are convinced, from their own experience, of the value of chemical fertilizers in maintaining soil productivity and for increasing crop yields. There are still some who believe that chemical fertilizers are ruining our soils.

No one will suggest that organic matter and humus are not important in our soils, says G. W. Michael, fertilizer specialist, dominion department of agriculture. To add compost material to build up the humus content of the soil is an expensive method. But humus can be put into the soil by ploughing down refuse crops, sods, green manure crops, and animal manures. Humus improves the texture and structure of the soil, regulates soil temperature, serves as a source of nitrogen and other plant foods, increases the water-holding capacity of the soil, prevents the top soil from washing and blowing away and stops the loss of minerals in solution.

Two things are necessary to maintain soil fertility, organic matter and plant food, and they should be partners. Organic matter can be maintained by good farm practices of rotating crops, use of manures, both green and animal, and ploughing down crop residue. The presence of organic matter increases soil bacteria and fish-worms which are beneficial to productive soil. Since most crops remove more plant food than the average farmer returns to the soil, it is necessary in addition, to use chemical fertilizers to supply the plants requirements; thus producing more vigorous crops and returning more organic matter to the soil in crop residue.

No experiments have ever shown that the use of chemical fertilizers are in any way detrimental. This is borne out by a 95-year experiment on wheat in England, where chemical fertilizers were used against manure. The plot receiving 1,392 pounds of complete fertilizer annually, outyielded the plot receiving an annual application of 15.7 tons of manure. During the last five years, the fertilized plot outyielded the manure plot by 4.4 bushels per acre. It would not seem that this soil had, been poisoned after receiving chemical fertilizer annually for 95 years.

In reviewing the facts, there is no scientific evidence that the use of chemical fertilizers causes any deterioration of the soil, or has any injurious effect on plant growth. The use of chemical fertilizers increases yields, thus lowering production costs. It makes poor land good and should be employed to make good land better.

Weekly Garden-Graph

By DEAN HOLLIDAY

(Released by Central Press Canadian)

When the "true leaves" make their appearance on seedlings of annuals it is time for their first transplanting.

True leaves are the second pair of leaves to appear, and, as illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph, they follow the first pair of leaves, which are known as the "seed leaves."

In preparation for transplanting, water the flat several hours before the seedlings are to be lifted, so that the soil will more readily cling to their roots. Use an ordinary table fork to lift each seedling, taking care not to loosen the ball of earth around the roots.

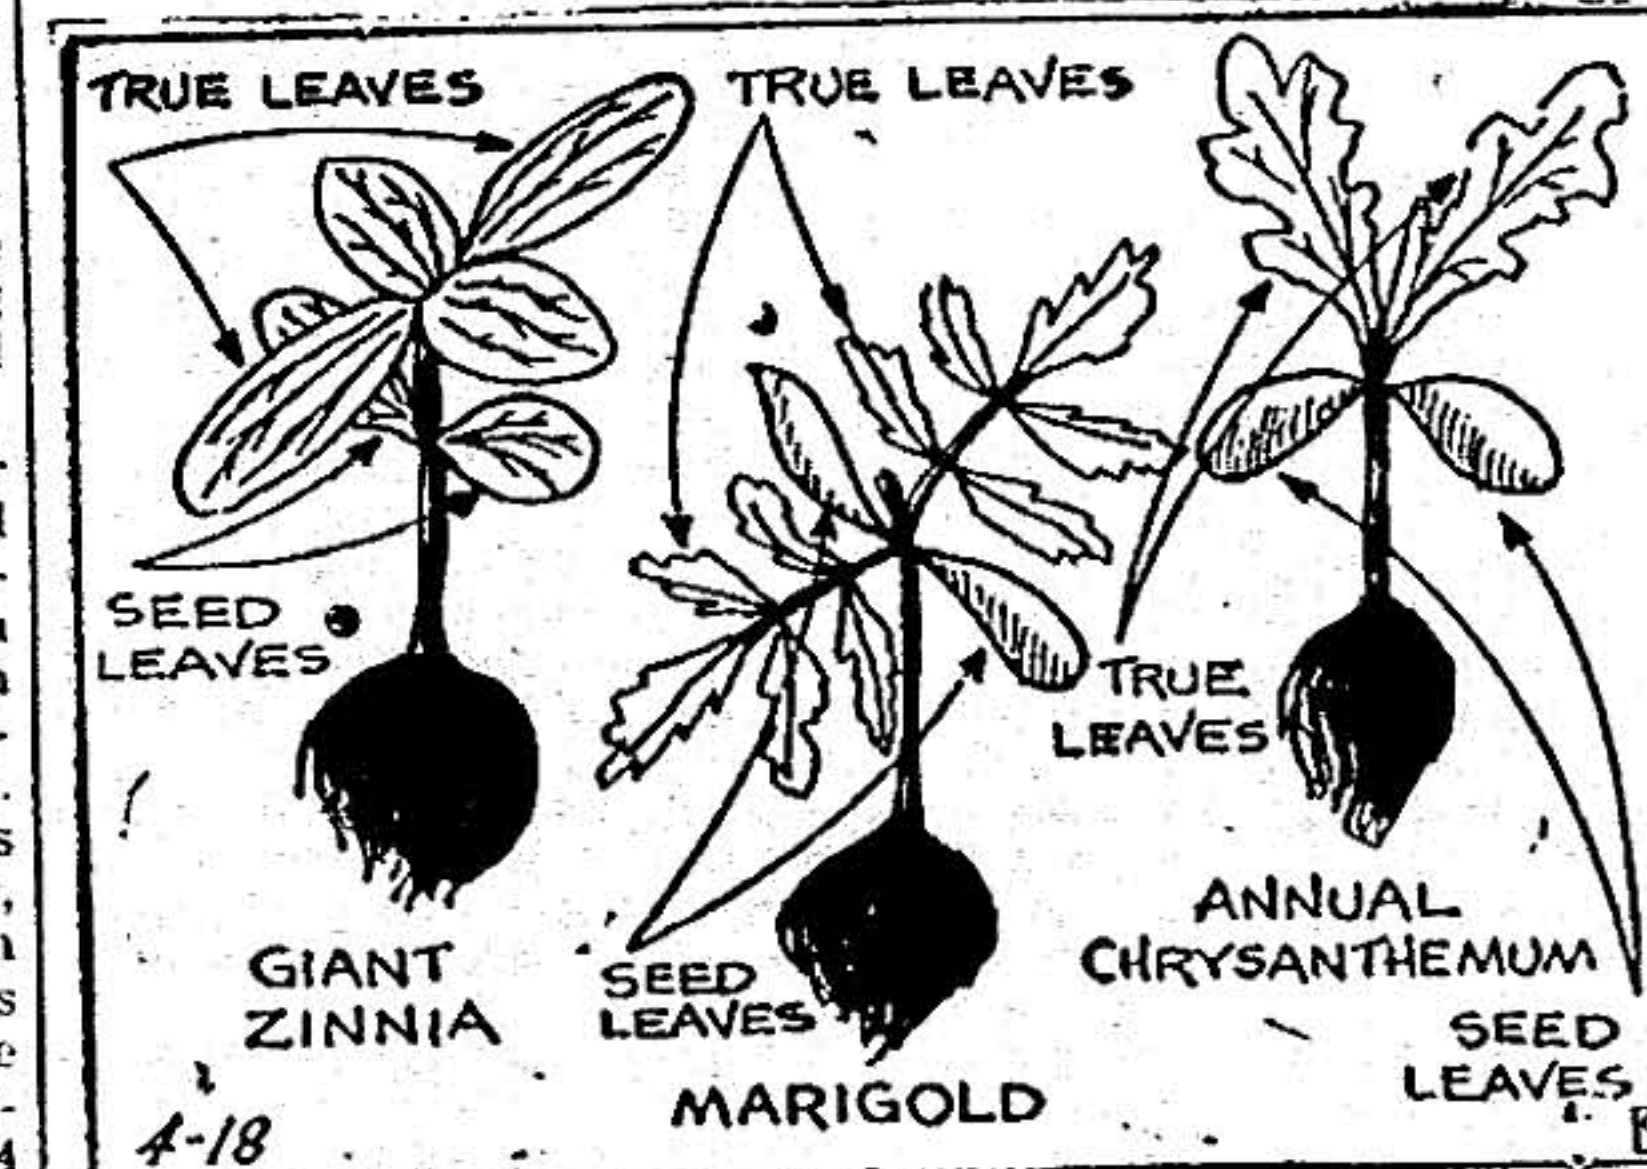

Make a hole, with a small pointed stick or dibble, in the soil to which the seedling is to be transplanted. The hole should be large enough to permit inserting the plant without crowding its roots. Plant to the depth of the first, or seed leaves. Press the soil gently, but firmly around each plant.

The first transplanting should be from one flat to another. Place the transplanted seedlings two inches apart each way. Water and protect from the sun for several days.

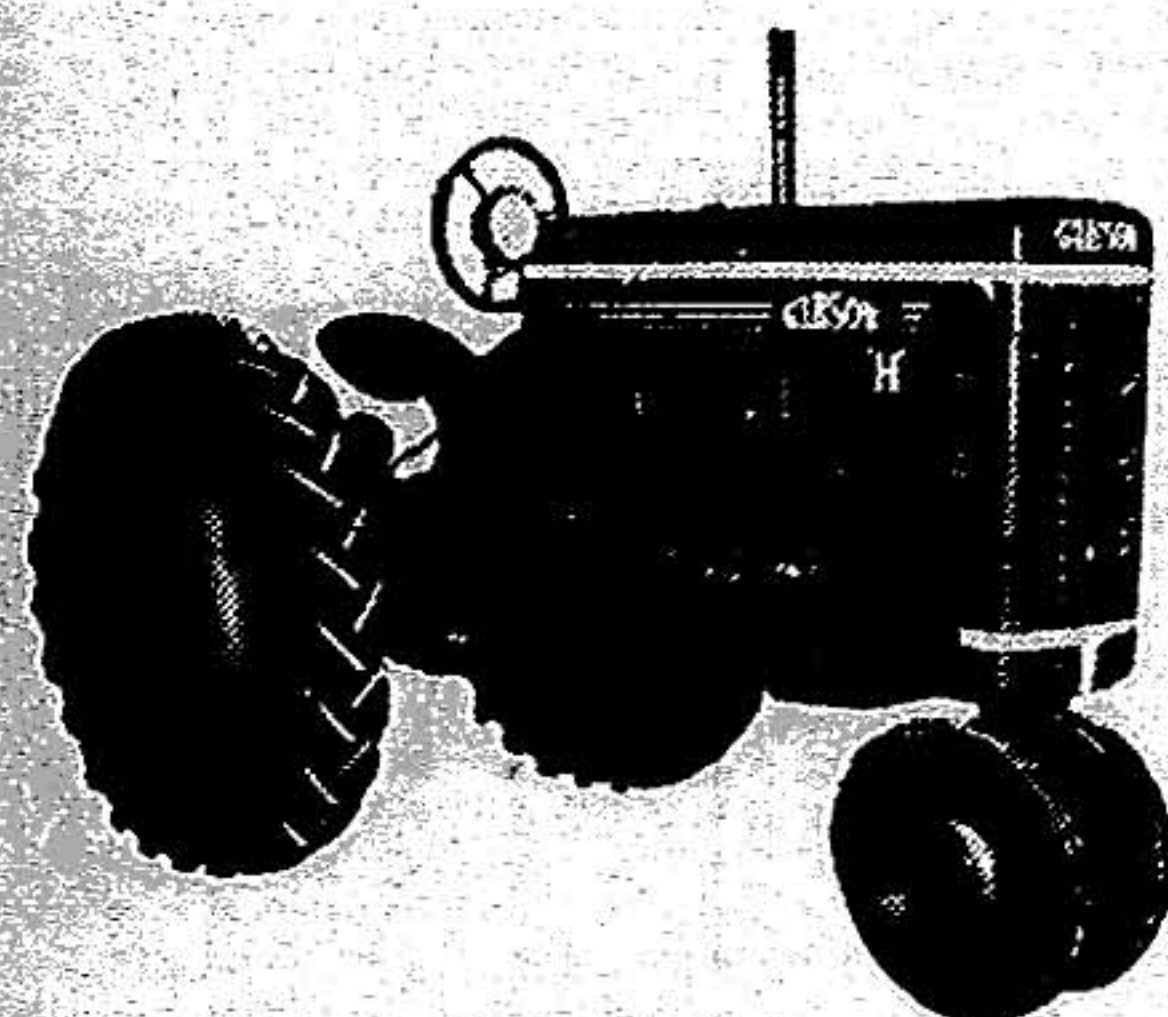

The second transplanting can be into two-inch pots, or into another flat with the plants spaced four inches apart each way. If the transplanting is into pots, it is well to use peat pots for later the plants, pot and all can be set out in the garden.

Flats containing seedlings should be weeded regularly, otherwise the rapid growth of the weeds will deprive the seedling plants of food, moisture and light. Weeding also helps to aerate the soil.

HANDS IN TRAINING...FOR ONTARIO

Learning Business Practice

IN Ontario the wheels of industry turn for the benefit of every single one of us. Our lathes, dynamos, drill presses, farm combines, tractors, business machines, etc. are producing goods and services which earn dollars. These dollars provide food, clothing, medical care and other necessities which contribute to our security and high standard of living. Every single one of us, therefore, has a very personal interest in the flow of a steady supply of trained workers to industrial plants. The workers will operate machines which are important to our way of life.

We should appreciate, then, the co-operative efforts of government, industry and labour in the field of employee training. In schools and in factories our workers, young and old, are given the opportunity to develop new and specific skills in every field of business and industrial activity. For instance, every effort on the part of office workers to become proficient in typing, filing, shorthand and secretarial work, will mean greater business efficiency—will help to make Ontario a finer place in which to live and work.

THE BREWING INDUSTRY (ONTARIO)

Our Way of Life Rewards Trained Hands

Ontario workers know they can earn more, have executive responsibility and enjoy a higher standard of living in direct ratio to the skills they acquire and the way they make use of them. That's always true in a free economy—that's why our competitive system will continue to make Canada great and a great place in which to live.

Ladies' Ball Club Organizes For Season

Framework for another big season of ladies' softball was launched Thursday night at the council chambers when the Newmarket Ladies' Softball Club held its organization meeting for 1949. The complete 1948 slate of officers was returned for another year. Orval Hissey holds his third term as president; Vic Giovannelli is vice-president; Mrs. A. Stickland, secretary-treasurer. Mel Ruddock was added as second vice-president at this year's meeting. Frank Courtney and his fellow-workers, Chuck VanZant, were handed the management and coaching job for another term. The treasurer's report presented to the meeting showed the club would have a little over $100 to start the season off. The team will once again be entered in the Barrie and District Softball League and also will make entry into the intermediate series of the Provincial Women's Softball Union play-downs. Orval Hissey, Frank Courtney and Chas. VanZant will represent the club at the Union's annual convention in Hamilton, May 1.

Press Shop are champs of the Hoffman League with 47 1/2 points. Sheet Metal was second with 43 1/2. Stores 42, Vorelone 40, and Machine Shop 27. Stores took the champion Press Shoppers apart last Friday in the final session of the league with a 4-0 win. Sheet Metal and Vorelone split at two points each. Jack Boag was tops with 660 (238, 237, 185). Frank Vandenberg with 600 (261, 141, 198) was next in individual honors with Les Woolven with 599 (230, 167, 202). They'll close the league with a banquet April 22 with presentation of prizes to the winning combination.

Davis Leather "Tanners" and the Office Specialty "Cabinet Makers" are engaged in a hot series. The Specialty sent their Town League champs against Andy Cullen's Tannery winning combination. The Tanners drew first blood last week winning out by 50 pins (2,929 against 2,879) hauling down three points against the Specialty one at the North End Alleys. Art Bennington was top scorer with the winning combination with 611 (224-233-144) with Howard Eakins at 584 in second slot.

Geo. Watts spilled the pins for a 601 triple (196-154-251) to head the Specialty shooters. Harold Craddock registered a 585 triple.

The local Legion bowlers took a crack at tournament play last Saturday, journeying to Barrie for a Legion tournament. They found the going plenty tough being dropped out of the running by Woodbridge, 3 games to nil. Woodbridge went on to nail down the championship. The Newmarket squad included Milt Wesley, Del. Pemberton, Mike Thompson, Cal. McAffie, Art Lauriault and Percy Pemberton.

Edna McGrath topped the scorers of the Monday night ladies' league with a very handsome 773 triple effort (226, 353, 194). That is about tops for the season. Kitty Ruddock with 601 (230, 167, 204) was nearest competitor. Other fine triple efforts were put on record by Audrey Benton 590, Phil. McInnis 586, Irene Abbott 580, Edith Wilson 572, Ella Wilkins 559, and Elsie Cline 556. Duds, Schmoos and Nitwits gained the major bulk of the points with three each. Humbergs, Owls and Blanks each took a single mark. Bring your up to date on the league standing next week.

It was almost but not quite a total eclipse for the Office Specialty office staff bowlers when they toed the mark against the red-hot Specialty Factory crew, town league champs, in a post season series. The chaps who put their feet under a desk managed to pick up but two points out of a possible 16 leaving little doubt as to the Factory boys' superiority. Tuesday's result saw the Factory roll up an imposing 6,423 count with the Office production set at 5,833. Geo. Watts and Sid Simmons topped the shooting parade in the factory cause both coming up with a solid 213 triple. Harold Craddock with 687 and Ed. Gibson with 671 were next on sheets. For the Office men Roy Bennett was front runner by quite a margin with a 665 triple. Geo. Phimister with 599, Bill McCaffrey 588 and Stew Parks at 584 were top sharpshooters in the Office cause.

Joyce Vandenberg took away the bowling honors last Thursday in the Office Specialty Office girls league and by rolling up a nice 614 mark (169, 225, 200). Her closest rival was Doris Elphinstone with 533, Florence Callaghan 523, and Eva Whitfield 500.

After topping the Monday Night Ladies' League, Edna McGrath gave a repeat performance to head the scoring list of the Thursday Night Ladies' League. This time Edna's winning mark was 665 (307, 187, 171). Other fine scores on record were Helen Tomlinson 631, Jean Wrightman 599, Betty VanZant 579, and Mary Robinson 532.

Down The Centre

By T. A. M. (AB.) HULSE

Loring Doolittle, versatile and loquacious Aurora athlete who played good ball last summer for Uniques of the North Toronto junior A circuit, is at present practising with one of the senior clubs of the Viaduct league and if he doesn't make the grade there, he'll again play junior in Toronto. "Dooley" was picked for the all-star team at the Toronto Leafs baseball school two years ago. Also bound for another year in Toronto baseball is Gerry Atcheson, Oak Ridges, who pitched brilliant ball last season for Uniques after a start with Aurora. Jack Andrews, husky portside pitcher who was in action in Toronto, Owen Sound and Embro last season, who is a grade A scholar, has his nose immersed in the books right now, but it may fairly well be taken that he'll not be in Aurora for the summer. Bill McGhee, who has played the outfield for Aurora minor teams the past three years, is flirting with the idea of wearing a new uniform this year, and he'll likely accompany Doolittle and Atcheson wherever they go. Reports from Toronto indicate that "Scotty" has been attracting considerable attention in practices. There are five lads who would look mighty sweet in Aurora uniforms and it's too bad they'll be lost to district baseball. If he can get the nod from the O.B.A., Leonard Simmons would like to form a junior A club from the entire district to compete in the Toronto groups, thereby bringing the fans better class ball and at the same time providing a chance in faster company for those who can make the grade. So far, there's been no answer from W. J. Snyder, the O.B.A. secretary.

Composite teams are generally frowned upon, the argument being that one good team from an area like North York, keeps down the number of teams for boys to play with regardless of the class. We feel, however, that one strong team would be a nice objective for the lads and that the same idea of promotion could apply for intermediate company. The other centres could still have their own minor clubs. Actually that is what has been done the past two years, with players from other towns playing with another in their own age bracket on a reciprocal lend-lease basis.

Chuck Nesbitt, ex-Bradford boy who has been a power in district hockey for many years, has announced his retirement. Regarded as just a fair performer when with Bradford in rural hockey, "Goldlocks" blossomed as a star with Newmarket camp in '43. He played fine hockey at Camp Borden and then joined Markham Millionaires and for the past three years he's been popping the puck in the opposing nets with almost monotonous regularity. For two seasons he was top scorer on the squad. This time we think Nesbitt really means to carry into effect what he has promised to do for at least two years. Charlie will be greatly missed, but he'll doubtless turn up in a coaching chore some place.

With the hockey season brought to an abrupt halt by reason of the O.H.A. action, far from being discouraged, the Markham management led by Harry Watts and Earl Robinson are already preparing for another season. George Stark, who played part of the season in Nova Scotia is settling down in a new house at Lansing. Bob Bangay, after one year in senior company down east, has just about decided to stay close to home and his good job for next winter, while brother Nick Bangay after two years in minor pro hockey, has a yen to return to amateur ranks. Bill Boychoff, Unionville juniors, who has played his last season in junior, is also counted upon for next season, and there are one or two more who are available. The idea of preparing for next winter now is a sound one that will pay dividends. Wonder what Bert Bell and the folks around Stouffville are doing about next winter?

Aurora has already announced April 29 as the polling day for the approval or rejection by the taxpayers of artificial ice.

News n' Views

By GEORGE HASKETT

Ho Hum. Calm week for the sporting clans. Stanley cupping settled, Barrie ousted. Ball practices off weather, too cold and wet. Lacrosse swingers getting anxious for a run in the rink. A little damp as yet, won't be long men. Keep your shirts on.

Along the softball trail, Vets' ambassadors, Doug May, Bert Ward and "Cecars" McDonald say their team will be the best turned out nine in the district. New uniforms are now on order and present ticket calls for defense of North York title annexed these past three years. They'll enter in Mount Albert, Queensville and Zephyr sports day tournaments. In addition home and home series with various Canadian Corps teams across the province. A very active softball round is in the making. We're likely to see Niagara Falls, St. Catharines, Thorold and Oshawa teams visiting here. Coach Chuck VanZant foresees practically all of last year's crew ready to swing and swat again. Mickey Smith, perhaps being a doubtful starter, hasn't given a definite yes or no as yet. North Yonge Softball loop held its annual meeting here recently but only two teams were represented, Aurora and Newmarket. President Hal Rogers left with the idea of contacting Langstaff, Lansing, Schomberg and Woodbridge to round out the circuit.

Our gals are ready for another big year. Plans are in order. Orval Hissey heads the organization of a third team, ditto Vic Giovannelli, his running mate. Mrs. A. Stickland is sec-treas. Mel Ruddock is an added starter with the executive. Skipper Courtney returns for another year as manager and Charlie VanZant is back as coach. Early practice sessions are due next week with the advent of fast time.

The baseball grind. "Better Baseball for Young Canada" is the momentous forecast coming out of the Ontario baseball annual. Toronto Leafs with their present club, Philadelphia, and Toronto Tely working hand and glove, proffer a comprehensive program for the younger baseball element. They're on the hunt for talent. Offered are schools for coaches and players alike. The sessions will be held across Ontario with Leaside and Barrie being nearest for local attention. Activity is due about May 14. North York, methinks, should be well represented. The talent is in this section, witness three of our teams making the semi-finals for all Ontario last season, Bill Haskett's Lions midgets, Doug James' Markham juveniles and Len Simmons' Aurora juniors. Something to crow about, we would say. North York deputies met in Newmarket recently for Aurora, Markham, Richmond Hill and Newmarket. Hope is to line up further teams with election of officers due May 2. Stouffville, if it goes through with present plans, is ready to send two intermediate ball clubs into action this summer. Our old friend, "Smokey" Smith, expects to lead a team into the North York set-up. Earl Cook and Ken Lushaway have eyes turned on an intermediate side in the fast growing tri-county circuit. Sutton via Norm Mitchell sent out feelers earlier regarding "coring in" with the local loop but now appeared headed for tri-county action.

Here we go again. Lake Simcoe Softball Circuit govern-ments are starting to stir. April 26 is likely called for the annual meeting. Local national softball league is due for immediate attention. Nothing as yet on industrial league. Come, come, men, let's get swinging. Play ball!

Sympathy, note. We'll pass along the sympathy of the sporting circle to those leading sportsmen up Sharon way, the Eves boys, Doug, Ross, Roy and Evan, on their recent loss.

Jim Law's Miami Rink Tops Bowling Trebles

Jim Law's rink, skipped by the genial gm. of the Dixon Pencil Company with Walter Eves, lead, and Lyman Rose, vice-skip, captured the God Friday trebles to tournament championship at the Miami Green. Eight rinks entered, one from Aurora, one from Richmond Hill and six representing Newmarket.

In the finals Jim Law's trio won a clean cut 12-6 victory over the Richmond Hill rink skipped by Gar Yerex with Jim Grainger, lead, and John Green, vice-skip. Jim Law's trio made the finals by a 14-13 win over the finals of that division. The local triumph over Tom Doyle's rink in a see-saw first round battle. In the semi-finals the Law rink chalked up a 12-10 win over

Fred Chantler's rink, Chantler moving into the semi-finals by virtue of a 20-8 win over Chas. Fry's Aurora three-men.

Gar Yerex's Richmond Hill trebles started their march to the finals with a 16-11 victory over Frank Courtney's rink. In the semi-finals in a rip snorting struggle, Yerex & chums through with a close 11-10 win over Andy Mardison. Mardison gaining a semi-finals berth with a 25-10 triumph over Ray Jelley.

Consolation prize honors went to Tom Doyle's rink, skipped by Tom with Tommy Scott, vice-skip, and Ken Silver, lead, as they recorded a 13-12 win over Chas. Fry's Aurora entry in the finals of that division. The local Miami Greens are going to be busy nightly from now on as the singles championship play is now underway.

Legion Midgets Drop Before St. Mikes

Mickey Smith's Legion Midgets, our last hockey team still on the wing, continued their activities on Good Friday morning clashing with St. Mike's in a King Clancy series game. Our kids didn't come home with a win, dropping a 2-0 decision to the Collegians, but put up a game display.

As Coach Smith remarked, better condition and chance to practice gave the winners an edge. Ken "Joe" Burke, guarding our nets, played an outstanding game rating an "E" for an excellent effort. Freeman West and "Mickey" Barker had our best chances to break the goose-egg, the former hitting the post on a close-in drive and the latter just failing to tip a loose puck into the open cage. The Legion lads will play in Milton against Cooksville on Saturday. A win will put them right up in the hunt.

Rod and Gun Club Starts Spring Season

With 75 members and guests present, the Rod and Gun Club opened its spring activities at the Scout Hall on Good Friday evening. After lunch it was "lights out" and a showing of several films covering everything from big game fishing for tarpon off the Florida coast to big game hunting, with the camera, in Alaska. The show was enjoyed by all and now the anglers are starting to get anxious to see the opening of the trout season roll around and it's but two weeks off.

President Albert Higginson reports the club is gradually gaining membership, standing at over 55 at the moment with members from Toronto north through to Sutton. Special guests Friday evening were the members of the local fire brigade. Further spring activity is planned; watch for the date.

North York League Seeks Ball Entries

Delegates of the North York Baseball League convened in the council chambers, Newmarket, last week for a general discussion of plans for the coming season. Representatives were present from Markham, Richmond Hill, Aurora and Newmarket. A temporary executive composed of Len Simmons (Aurora), Doug James (Markham), Grant Nighswander (Richmond Hill), Wm. Haskett, John Hines and Geo. Haskett, was named.

The executive is to contact Stouffville, Bradford, Sutton and Agincourt with a view to having them enter teams in the league. Intermediate ball seems a certainty with Markham, Stouffville, Aurora and Newmarket likely to field teams. A further meeting of the league is planned for May 2 at which time the temporary executive will make a report on their success of gaining further entries. It is expected an executive will be elected at that time.

Start From Scratch End With $1,000

Aurora—At a meeting of the Aurora Recreation Commission Thursday, R. D. Heaton, treasurer, presented a preliminary financial statement which was accepted as highly satisfactory. The report covered the period from the establishment of the commission in April, 1948, to April 7, 1949, but as there are still accounts receivable for a substantial amount, the final statement, which will be published later, will be even more favorable.

A brief resume of the commission's activities during that period reveals some interesting facts. The commission was launched without any funds but shortly afterward was granted $25 for incidental expenses. In order to finance its program of instruction in sport and recreation, the members of the commission individually gave security to the bank for a loan, rather than place any further burden on the taxpayer. This loan was later retired with funds from current revenue earned through its various activities.

The commission has assisted various organizations and has sponsored Saturday night dances in the high school auditorium, that have provided good clean recreation and enjoyment for a substantial number of people of the community, mostly teenagers, as well as drawing patrons from the surrounding district. The commission provided expert coaching to the various hockey groups free of charge and gave more free time to the children of Aurora than ever before, including free ice time to the Lions club's hockey groups for which the club previously had to pay.

The commission also was instrumental in making substantial improvements to the arena in painting the seats and part of the arena building inside and out, also provided the labor for alterations to the interior, all at no cost to the taxpayer. The commission secured a substantial grant from the government because of its activities, which is bound money to the community.

The members of the commission get considerable satisfaction from the fact that at the end of one year's operations they have a substantial balance in the bank, which, when all accounts are received, will be well over $1,000.

If the commission, in the process of getting established, can operate the arena with natural ice during a season of most adverse weather with such good results, there should be no doubt that the arena with artificial ice equipment and the proposed extension providing facilities that will permit year round use, will certainly meet all debt service costs out of current revenue and in addition will bring business to town that will help pay for a new public school.

It is not a choice between artificial ice and a school; we need them both, and the artificial ice project will carry itself and help pay for a school.

We should vote for artificial ice on April 29.
